U. S. Retail Sales Tax Gains Support

SENATE GROUP SHOULDERS OUT SPENDING LEVY

Sen. Byrd Asks Assessment of 5 Per Cent on Food, 10 Per Cent Elsewhere.

WOULD RAISE 4 BILLION

Treasury Plan Would Take Entire Income In Some Instances, Charge.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The treasury's revolutionary spending tax program appeared doomed today and sponsors of a general retail sales tax gained ground in the senate finance committee in the effort to boost the total of the $6 271,000,000 house-approved tax bill.

The treasury, while vigorously opposing a sales tax, informed the committee that a general retail sales tax should be adopted if it goes into the sales levy field

The report was submitted in response to a committee request, as Sen Byrd (D) Va, pushed a proposal for a five per cent sales tax on food and a 10 per cent tax on other articles to raise $4,000,000,000 annually

Randolph E. Paul, treasury general counsel said that investigation has shown a general retail sales tax to be preferable to other kinds of sales taxes.

"After a consideration of all the relevant factors, we conclude that of the several possibilities, a general retail sales tax would present the least difficulties," he said.

The treasury retail sales tax plan would apply to all retail sales of tangible personal property, and would include services The tax would be uniform and not graduated. Quarterly returns would be required.

"Only retail sales, that is, sales made to final consumers, including some sales to commercial and industrial users, would be taxable," Paul said.

The treasury, however, proposed exclusion of sales of industrial, commercial and agricultural machinery, and all sales on fuel. This,

Boys Hung Nazi Flags, Now They Place Wreaths

HAMILTON—(U P)—Two boys who hung Nazi flags on a pole at the Roosevelt school in Middletown last May 28 must give demonstrations of their patriotism on that date for the next three years

Probate Judge Oscar R. Leiser today placed the 15-year-old boys on probation of six months and ordered them to place a wreath on the soldiers and sailors monument at Woodside cemetery on May 28 in 1943, 1944 and 1945.

Leiser said he believed the Nazi emblems were hung as a prank but pointed out that the results could have been serious. He said that some Middletown residents were placed under surveillance as a result of the act.

The court ordered the flags burned.

NAZIS ALARMED?

Hitler Appoints New Chief of Anti-Aircraft Defense.

LONDON—(AP)—Germany has announced Adolf Hitler's appointment of General Friedrich Hirschhauer as the new chief of anti-aircraft defenses for the whole country and British sources said today that the step evidenced Nazi alarm over the growing destructiveness of allied air attacks.

Hirschhauer, formerly the commanding general of anti-aircraft defenses of the 17th German air district, succeeded a general Schroeder.

OPA Readies Licenses for Meat Firms

Move Designed to Prevent Evasion of Price Regulations.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—In a move designed "to prevent evasion of existing and forthcoming price regulations," the office of price administration shortly will place the entire meat industry, except for retailers, under unified licensing control

Announcement of the licensing program last night followed the beginning of court action against approximately 115 meat packers and wholesalers to compel compliance with price regulations.

Alleging "up-grading" or "plain and simply overcharging," OPA began filing injunction suits in 18 cities throughout the country, and said additional actions would be filed in other cities as the investigation continued.

Effective Sept. 8, OPA will automatically license all packers, wholesalers and custom slaughterers, and make the license a required condition for selling any meat product subject to price regulation. Dressed hogs, beef, veal and lamb carcasses, and almost all wholesale and retail cuts except mutton, now are subject to such regulation.

The order provides for suspension of licenses in the event of violation of regulations.

Retailers were excluded from the order because they already are licensed under the general maximum price regulations

OPA said it had received complaints from all parts of the country that price regulations were being ignored by packers and wholesalers and that inferior cuts were being sold at prices exceeding established ceilings.

"Up-grading," OPA explained consists of stamping and selling meat of inferior grades at prices exceeding established ceilings

The "Big Four" of the packing industry—Swift & Co., Armour & Co, Wilson & Co, and the Cudahy Packing company—were among the defendants.

OPA said it went to court after a nationwide investigation by its inspectors in cooperation with department of agriculture inspectors.

BLAST UNSOLVED

Midtown Manhattan Rocked By Mysterious Explosion.

NEW YORK —(INS)— A terrific explosion occurred about 10 a m, today in or near a 15-story apartment building on the northwest corner of Third avenue and 48th street and shook the midtown area of Manhattan.

The blast damaged at least one store on the street level, blowing out a huge plate glass window in a shoe shop.

Whether any additional damage was done could not be learned immediately as police and firemen rushed to the building. Cause of the blast also was a mystery.

PICK HEALTHIEST BOY, GIRL TODAY

Final Examinations To Be Conducted at City Hall.

From a group of nine boys and at least eight girls, a healthiest 4-H club boy and girl will be chosen tonight at the City building to represent the county at the annual 4-H club congress in Columbus later this month.

The field of contestants has been reduced through examinations conducted in several sections of the county this week. The healthiest girl was to have been chosen last Monday, but some of the contestants were unable to appear in Mansfield for their examinations. Dr. Mabel Emery will conduct the examinations tonight in the health office at the City building.

ACTS TONIGHT ON EMERGENCIES

Investment Board, Issues Held Up By Deadline Rule Before City Councilmen.

Two emergency issues and probably several routine proposals which were refused consideration Monday night when a six-year-old filing deadline was re-affirmed will be presented to council in special session at 7:30 p m. today.

Under one proposal, assured of passage, the city investment board will be empowered to invest idle city money in Mansfield's own bond issues, and issues of the state of Ohio as well as the government paper to which the board originally was restricted. This measure has been declared an emergency to permit the board to buy a $52,000 bond issue covering 1940-41 improvements before the legal requirement that the bond be offered on the open market Sept 14.

To insure completion of East Raleigh avenue before freezing weather, City Engineer W. C. Statler won emergency status for an administration ordinance asking $700 additional for the project to meet increased labor costs created by application of the state's prevailing wage

LOAFERS FIRED AT SHIPYARDS

Names of 160 Chronic Absentees Sent to Draft Boards.

SOUTH PORTLAND, Me.—(INS)—Accused of loafing on the job, 160 workers from two shipyards were fired and their names were submitted today to draft boards.

Discharges were handed out after the men failed to satisfy company officials with explanations for their repeated absence from work, which has slowed ship production at the plants

A long threatened edict to either "work or fight" had been issued by the companies. Last Monday a weeding-out process began, directed at uprooting all "chronic absentees."

Agitators Blamed For Injury of Two Ulster Policemen.

BELFAST, Northern Ireland—(AP)—Two police officers were injured by a time bomb explosion outside the Randalstown police barracks during the night as officials pressed a roundup of suspected political agitators which resulted in 90 arrests before morning.

Authorities blamed members of the outlawed Irish Republican army for the bomb blast, apparently touched off in protest against the execution of Thomas Williams, youthful IRA follower whose hanging for the slaying of a constable was marked by a wave of disorders Tuesday.

United States troops, for whom Belfast has been declared out of bounds Wednesday and Thursday, appeared on the streets here last night without incident.

WANTS TO KNOW ARMY ATTITUDE

Senator Says He'll Ask For Recommendations on 18-19 Draft.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — Chairman Reynolds (D-NC) of the senate military affairs committee declared today he would ask the war department for a formal recommendation "as to the necessity" of drafting youths of 18 and 19 into the armed forces.

Reynolds told reporters he would be guided "by the decisions of our military leaders" in his consideration of a proposal, introduced yesterday by Senator Gurney (R-SD), to lower the minimum induction age from 20 to 18 and thus tap a reservoir of upwards of 2,000,000 men

Gurney's proposal, offered as an amendment to the selective service act, was referred to the military committee. Reynolds said he would send it to the war department immediately for "its study and recommendation."

Gurney told the senate that the United States should go into the younger brackets for soldiers with a view of giving them sufficient

SHIFT SPEEDS UP RICHLAND WAR RATIONING

Two Boards to Serve Instead Of Three In Revision to Simplify Program.

CITY'S BOARD ENLARGED

Applications Can Be Filed With Individual Members, OPA Inspector Says.

In a move to expediate and simplify applications, the rationing set-up in Mansfield and Richland county will be radically changed, effective Oct. 1, it was announced today.

In place of three rationing boards—one for Mansfield, one for Shelby and four northerly townships, and a third for the rest of the county, there will be only two boards.

The Shelby board will retain its identity, and continue to serve the same territory, but the Mansfield board will handle all the rest of the county

To simplify procedure, this board will be doubled in size, making 12 members instead of six, and will be divided into four "panels" each charged with rationing of certain commodities.

These changes were announced today by George F. Sexton, of the Cleveland Office of Price Administration An assistant OPA inspector, Sexton has been directing organization of rationing boards in Ohio for some time He explained that similar changes were being made in other counties, with population as a major factor

Nelson Neff, teacher at Johnny Appleseed Junior High school, will serve as chairman of the enlarged Mansfield-Richland county board, known as Board 70-1. He is a member of the present board.

James E. Bailey, clerk and secretary of the board, will be executive secretary to the board. This will be the only paid position, other than the clerks. Bailey is drawing pay in his present capacity, but when rationing first went into effect, served without salary.

The "panel" set-up, as explained by Sexton, is expected to ex-

BOARD QUITS

Deferment of Farm Worker Protested En Masse.

ROTAN, Tex —(AP)— Fisher county's draft board has quit en masse—after first deferring all but seven of the 42 men who were to have answered an August 28 call for induction.

The Fisher county board members, W. W Morton, George W. Riley and A B Hilburn, said in a signed statement that state selective headquarters arbitrarily had deferred one registrant because he was a farm and ranch hand.

And that classification, said the board, fits 98 per cent of the county's registrants.

So they put most of their 42-man August 28 quota in class 2-A—and presented their resignations yesterday. At Austin, Adj.-Gen. Watt Page, head of the state selective service system, withheld comment.

Willkie Meets Egypt's King Today, Tells of U. S. Output

(By International News Service)

CAIRO—A meeting with King Farouk was on Wendell Willkie's schedule today before beginning the next lap of his journey to Moscow and Chungking.

The American political leader, on a special mission for President Roosevelt, spread a cheerful story of America's great productive power during a series of conferences yesterday after arriving in an army transport plane.

We are now turning out 5,000 planes a month and will double that figure next year, he declared More ships are being produced than Axis submarines can sink, and tank production is ahead of schedule, he added.

"I think we are going the win the war fairly soon," Willkie declared. "The recession of the Nazi tide has begun, but the period of recession may be long. There must be a great deal of work and effort and many lives will be lost before the war is over."

Willkie revealed that he carried letters from President Roosevelt to Premier Josef V. Stalin and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

His choice of the Middle East for the first stop, he said, was to emphasize to the American people the importance of this front, which he said was vital to the war effort.

Asked if he thought the Republican party would return to a policy of isolationism after the war, Willkie replied briskly:

"Not if I have my way."

Russians Admit Unprecedented Fight On Volga

Germans Say They Cross Kerch Strait In Caucasus; Rommel Forced to Fall Back In Egypt Under Pounding of Allied Planes and Artillery.

BULLETIN

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts)—(AP)—The German attack on Stalingrad has carried to the suburbs of that city on the Volga while 400 miles to the southwest the Nazi army of the Crimea has stormed across Kerch straits to the Russian-held Black sea coast, the German high command announced today.

(By Associated Press)

Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's armored columns, jolted by terrific Allied fire-power, were reported to have fallen back in the battle of Egypt today under another record-breaking assault by British and American warplanes.

A British communique said the main Axis forces had retreated slightly westward.

On the Russian front, Nazi headquarters asserted that German troops had fought their way to the western suburbs of Stalingrad, and Tass, the official Soviet news agency, acknowledged that fighting was in progress on "the immediate approaches" to the big Volga steel city.

Dispatches to Red Star said battles "without precedent in violence" were raging on the northern and southern approaches to the city as Gen. Fedor von Bock threw 25 divisions or upwards of 375,000 troops into a climactic assault on the key "City of Stalin"

"The Hitlerites' tank columns, decimated in previous engagements, have been considerably replenished," Tass said.

German planes were reported attacking the city regularly in waves of 150 or more.

In the Caucasus, Hitler's field headquarters said, German troops crossed the Kerch strait between the Crimea and the Caucasus mainland and now are attacking Russian defenses on the Black sea coast.

Against the steadily darkening plight of Russia's armies, the situation in Egypt was markedly improved

A bulletin from British imperial G. H. Q. said British forces exerted strong pressure on the enemy all day yesterday in the southern sector of the 35-mile El Alamein front, 80 miles west of Alexandria.

"The enemy's main concentration moved slightly westward during the day," a communique said.

"Allied light bombers broke their previous day's record of sorties against enemy concentrations. No enemy dive-bombers operated over the battle area."

No Allied bombers were lost, the British command said.

The communique indicated that U. S. Army and RAF fliers, coupled with Allied ground forces, had won at least the first phase of the new five-day struggle by compelling Rommel to draw in his steel-tipped horns.

Dispatches from the front said the Axis chieftain had moved up vast supplies for his offensive—

HAVOC: U. S., Allied Planes Rip Japs on 3,500-Mile Front

(By Associated Press)

American and Allied warplanes, swarming across the far Pacific skies on a 3,500-mile "front," were officially credited today with inflicting havoc on Japan's invasion armies from China to the Solomon islands in the South seas.

In China, a bulletin from Lieut. Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters announced that U S. army fliers scored direct bomb hits on Japanese headquarters at Nanchang, blasted a fleet of 25 big troop-laden junks and probably sank seven Japanese steamers

"Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Japanese and a number of boats were burned," Gen. Stilwell reported.

Another flight strafed a Japanese troop train of 12 cars going north on the Kiukiang-Nanchang railway. The train was loaded with army trucks, artillery and horses. The locomotive was destroyed and heavy damage caused to material.

"In the afternoon, American fighters bombed Nanchang. In a congested Japanese area northwest of the town, many hits were scored, with direct hits on a headquarters and large warehouses."

These were merely the highlights of a devastating U. S. aerial offensive carried out with the loss of only a single American plane.

Moreover, U. S. air force "sky dragons," as admiring Chinese describe them, were reported to have shot down five Japanese planes yesterday in a battle over Kweilin, in Chekiang province.

In the southwest Pacific, Allied bombers set big fires raging in the Japanese base at Salamaua, New Guinea; bombed enemy seaplanes at Faisi, destroyed fuel dumps at Buka and targets at

REBUFF: Ouster of Suner Seen As Slap at Hitler, Allied Gain

(By Associated Press)

The ouster of Nazi-loving Ramon Serrano Suner as Spanish foreign minister and Falange leader was regarded generally by Allied commentators today as a rebuff for Adolf Hitler if not a definite gain for the United Nations.

Spain's position between British guns at Gibraltar and German guns in occupied France, President Roosevelt's proposal of post-war assistance in her reconstruction and traditional bonds linking Madrid with Latin American governments now largely arrayed against the Axis were variously cited.

A wait-and-see attitude, however, was adopted by prominent Spaish Republicans refuged in Mexico City.

Former Premier Indalecio Prieto said "it would not be going too far" to suspect the shake-up announced in Madrid yesterday was a maneuver to give Generalissimo Francisco Franco time to mold his future policy around the outcome of the new Axis offensive in Egypt.

Franco, a brother-in-law of Serrano Suner, himself took over as council chief of the Falange, the only authorized political movement within Spain.

The foreign ministry went to Count Francisco Gomez Jordana, veteran soldier-statesman, a conservative nationalist who also held the post when the United States recognized Franco's government April 1, 1939.

Alexander W. Wedell, former U. S. ambassador to Spain, said including a 10-day supply of gasoline for his armored columns—and that Allied planes now were keeping the supply dumps under an almost incessant hail of bombs.

Italy's high command gave a conflicting version of the battle, asserting that "encounters by armored elements have resulted to our advantage" and making no mention of an Axis retreat.

"The enemy lost a number of tanks," the Italian command said. "Numerous New Zealanders have been taken prisoner."

The Fascist communique also declared that 25 Allied planes had been shot down by German and Italian fighters.

British military observers warned against too much optimism as a result of Rommel's withdrawal, pointing out that the battle was still in its preliminary phases with both sides jockeying for position.

The Axis chieftain, they said, has not yet suffered crippling losses and there was no indication he was trying to avoid a showdown.

Other reports suggested that Rommel may have been forced to call off his offensive, at least temporarily, by the withdrawal of his aerial support to the Russian front. In Moscow, a military spokesman said large Nazi air forces had been moved to the Soviet battle theater from the Mediterranean and western Europe.

The spokesman quoted captured German fliers as saying many airfields in the west now had only dummy planes as whole squadrons were shifted to replace staggering losses in the east.

Masses of German infantry and tank reinforcements were also reported pouring into the assault on Stalingrad, and Soviet dispatches said the Germans had a superiority of two or three to one in some sectors.

At mid-day, Red army headquarters acknowledged that tank-led Nazi shock troops had deepened their wedge into Soviet defenses on the southeast approaches of the city.

"At a cost of enormous losses, the Hitlerites succeeded in making a slight advance," the Soviet command said.

"In other sectors, the enemy attacks were repulsed with heavy losses."

Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's forces north of Stalingrad were said to have broken into Nazi positions and "wiped out two companies of Hitlerites in a fierce engagement."

In the western Caucasus, the Russians conceded that Nazi troops had captured a strategic height in the battle for Novorossisk, Soviet naval base on the Black sea, but declared that elsewhere in that region the Red armies were holding firmly.

Deep in the central Caucasus, other German forces which crossed the Terek river in the Mozdok area, 50 miles northwest of the Grozny oil fields, were declared to have been wiped out.

Soviet dispatches indicated, however, that the Germans were pressing a stronk offensive toward the oil fields and that the defenders were out-numbered.

In the western air war, a small force of RAF bombers attacked northwest Germany overnight, following up previous attacks on Saarbruecken and Karlsruhe.

German night raiders made a light attack on an English coastal town.

'Green' Pilots Bag Big Nazi Bomber

REYKJAVIK, Iceland — (U.P.) — Two pilots who previously had not seen combat today were credited with shooting down the first German airplane destroyed by the American air force in the European theater of war.

U. S. Army headquarters here diclosed that a four-motored Focke-Wulf, Germany's largest bomber, was shot down by two fighter pilots in August. The announcement, it was explained, was delayed for "security reasons."

Second Lieutenants Joseph Shaffer, 24, Long Beach, Cal., and Elza Shahan, 24, St. George, W. Va., were credited with the victory and received silver stars for "extraordinary heroism."

Kieta, all in the upper Solomons; bombed and machine-gunned Japanese troops in the Kokoda area, New Guinea, and pounded seaborne Japanese forces in the lower Solomons.

Once again, Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters noted the absence of Japanese attempts at interception, thereby strengthening the belief in some quarters that Japan was withdrawing all available air power from the South Seas area for a new offensive elsewhere.

At sea, the navy in Washington reported, U. S. submarines, striking at Japan's far-drawn lines of supply, sank five more enemy ships, including a light cruiser—making a total of 99 Japanese vessels sunk or damaged by American underseas craft since Pearl Harbor.

The navy said U. S. marines were steadily tightening their grip on the Solomon islands and that small enemy detachments attempting to regain footholds in the strategic archipelageo were "being sought and engaged."

American landlbased aircraft, operating from the Jap-built Guadalcanal airfield, attacked and hit ships engaged in landing operations in that sector, but the extent of damage was unknown, the navy said.

American defenders were credited with shooting down three enemy bombers and five fighters during an attack on U. S. positions on Guadalcanal.

Foresee New Attack On Dutch Harbor

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)— Military experts today suggested the possibility of another Japanese attack on Dutch Harbor, Alaska, as a prelude to an attack on Siberia.

So long as Dutch Harbor remains an active American base within flying distance of the Japanese positions in the western Aleutians, they pointed out, Japan's North Pacific flanks are constantly threatened.

The United Nations for some time have been expecting a Japanese move against the Soviet Union in Siberia. Officials of the Pacific war council, after a conference with President Roosevelt this week, said they believed such an attack was just a matter of time.

There has been no news from the Aleutians since August 22, when a navy communique reported that an American submarine sank a large merchant ship. The only information immediately prior to that was an announcement that another submarine sank a Japanese cruiser or destroyer.

U. S. Fliers Bomb Jap Headquarters

CHUNGKING — (U.P.) — U. S. army fighter squadrons, resuming their offensive in central China with large-scale attacks over a wide area, scored a direct hit on Japanese military headquarters in Nanchang, capital of Kiangsi province, a communique from Gen. Joseph W. Stilwell's headquarters reported today.

The Americans swooped over the Poyang lake area in central Kiangsi, sinking at least seven steamers and a number of small craft, the communique said.

They also strafed a Japanese troop train, destroying the locomotive and blasted railway stations and warehouses.

Junks and sailboats plying lakes and rivers in the Poyang area also were hit, the communique, Gen. Stilwell's 41st, said.

One plane was reported missing.

he said, would reduce pressure against price ceilings.

The spending tax plan aroused the most vigorous opposition that has greeted treasury tax proposals in years. One senator said that the committee, in secret session, halted Paul's explanation of the spending tax before he had finished.

A majority of the 21 members of the committee publicly either condemned the spending tax outright, or indicated that it would have to be modified drastically to win acceptance.

Sen. Byrd charged that the spending tax—which is an addition to income taxes—could actually take more than 100 per cent of income of some individuals.

"The fact is," he said, "that a billion of the spending tax yield would come from lowering income tax exemptions. Under it the individual would pay a 15 per cent withholding tax next year, plus his 1942 income taxes."

Sen. Guffey (D) Pa., a strong administration supporter, also declared the spending tax plan dead.

"We will end up by adopting a modified, selected consumers' tax—it won't be called a sales tax," he said.

The spending tax plan would raise an estimated $6,500,000,000 annually, of which $4,500,000,000 would be refunded after the war.

removed to permit resurfacing of the street around the park, the scrap collection will go on indefinitely, said Carl L. Stough, county salvage chairman. Many filling stations have set up receptacles for scrap, and trucks will continue to pick it up at homes in the city if the county civilian defense office at the courthouse is notified.

Earl Saltzgaber, chairman of the Richland Victory Civic committee, said the organization will meet Sept. 11 to decide what to do about Christmas gifts for county soldiers in camps or on active duty.

The committee in the future will have to buy the gift repair kits which are presented to inductees when they leave Mansfield, Saltzgaber said, since the Red Cross will no longer be able to supply them. That will leave less money for Christmas presents, he said.

He said the committee will take up the question of sending gifts to servicemen outside the United States. A number of packages mailed two months ago to men in Ireland have been returned because the addressees were not found and the Victory Civic committee does not want to start sending large numbers of packages that will not reach the men for whom they are intended, he added.

SHIFT SPEEDS UP RICHLAND WAR RATIONING

Two Boards to Serve Instead Of Three In Revision to Simplify Program.

pediate action on applications for rationed items.

The 12-man board will be divided into four panels of three members each, with a chairman from their own small group. One panel, with R. D. Hale, Mansfield, as chairman, and Walter Pritchard, Lucas, and F. C. Alger Mansfield, as the other members, will handle applications for automobiles, bicycles and typewriters. Another panel, with Lloyd Dillon as chairman, and Neff and William Castor, Lexington, as members, will handle price controls. A third panel, with C. N. Shultz as chairman, and E. B. Kallmerten, Mansfield, and A. W. Gilmore, R. D. 3, as the other members, will ration tires and tubes. The fourth, with M. C. Mathews, Butler, as chairman and R. B. Garber, Bellville and one other person as yet not named as members, will handle sugar rationing.

Since the membership of the board now embraces most sections of the county it served, persons applying for any rationed article may make application to the member living closest to them. If the application is for an item rationed by that particular member's panel, he brings it up for that panel's consideration. If it is rationed by another panel, he submits it to that panel.

This, Sexton explained, is intended to save applicants trips to the board headquarters.

Each panel, he added, is final authority for the articles it rations. Sexton said this would eliminate the need for all members to be familiar with all rationing regulations and would speed up action on all commodities being rationed.

Bailey, as secretary, will have the power to make recommendations on applications received at the rationing board office, but all power of decision rests with the panels within the board.

Of the 12 members of the board, five will be new. They are Pritchard, Castor, Mathews, Garber and the one member yet to be named. Those now serving and continuing to serve under the new set-up are Neff, Hale, Alger, Dillon, Shultz and Kallmerten.

The Shelby board remains intact, as to personnel and duties. It will not function in the same manner as Board 70-1, but will handle, through its three members, all rationing applications.

Sexton estimated that the Shelby board, serving Shelby, the villages of Plymouth and Shiloh, and Plymouth, Cass, Jackson and Sharon townships, would cover a population of about 15,000 persons. The Mansfield-Richland county board, he said, will serve about 55,000.

Under consideration is a plan to increase the size of the Shelby board, lessening the burden on the three present members.

The Mansfield-Richland county board will be established in new headquarters under the new set-up, Sexton said, but the location has not yet been selected.

at Richmond that the shift of foreign ministers "might be fairly translated as an indication that relations with the United States" would be examined with more moderation.

The London News Chronicle said it would "be rash to expect any drastic change of foreign policy," but described the dismissal of Serrano Suner as welcome news.

"Prospects of an increase in Axis influence and even of the continuation of the use of Spanish ports by Axis submarines—an abuse of neutrality for which Serrano Suner has found endless excuses and denials—have slightly worsened," the paper said.

Berlin radio broadcasts insisted there would be no change in Spanish foreign policy and implied that Franco sought primarily to eliminate long-standing friction between Falange politicians and his army.

Mexico Pleased at Franco's Action

MEXICO CITY — (INS) — The shake-up in the Spanish cabinet was the chief political topic today in Mexico, and the general reaction to the dropping of Foreign Minister Ramon Serrano Suner as foreign minister was one of satisfaction.

Rene Capistran Garza, editor of the newspaper Novedades, outstanding Spanish publication in Mexico, declared that the move would please all Spanish-speaking nations.

"They have viewed with apprehension the constant possibility that the mother country would deliver itself to the cause of the totalitarian states," he declared.

"The displacement of Suner reveals that General Franco has rectified his policy to one more in accord with the aspirations of the American democracies."

ROWSBURG GIRLS' 4-H CLUB WINS HIGHEST COUNTY RATING

ASHLAND—The Rowsburg Girls 4-H club under the leadership of Miss Helen Brown was the only 4-H club which had 100 per cent completion of work during this year's 4-H club's season. Each club is rated at the close of the season according to the percentage of members completing the membership, the average grade for the club and its community services rendered. Last year the Ashland county club which scored highest on these points was awarded an honor pennant at the Ashland County Fair.

As no county fair is being held this year, recognition is being given the clubs by Miss Elizabeth Beckwith, Ashland county home demonstration agent and in charge of Girls 4-H club work. The McZena club, whose advisors are Mrs Blanche Downard and Miss Catherine Smith was second high this year in completion of work with 91 per cent.

The McZena club and the Nankin club had the largest memberships of any clubs in the county, the former with 21 and the latter 22.

The 4-H clubs this summer were urged to do community service and to help with salvage campaigns. The Nankin club under the leadership of Miss Martha Lutz salvaged 1600 pounds of scrap, 223 pounds of rubber and 79 pounds of fat.

The members of the Jeromesville club whose advisors are Mrs. Laurel Landeman and Miss Carol Findlay has as a part of their program the knitting of blocks which they later made into an afghan for the Red Cross.

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 4, 1942.

Unheard remark: "She weighs around 180 pounds but she certainly looks well in slacks."

Fortunately our soldiers, sailors and marines are not insisting on a six-hour day—although the Axis would probably like to have them do so.

According to a Columbia university professor, there are 2,769 spoken languages, exclusive of minor dialects—so there's a practically unlimited field for ambitious students.

Gigantic Air Offensive Urged

DECISIONS rest on military authorities in determining war strategy but suggestions have many sources and the current issue of Time magazine presents a thought-provoking argument in favor of an immediate all-out air attack on Germany and makes a strong case for that method of greatly reducing Nazi striking power.

This article points out that 31 key cities and their suburbs are essential to functioning of the German war machine, and that destruction of all 31 targets would cripple war production to a degree that would render inevitable the defeat of the German armies.

It is presented as practicable that, "In a period of 120 days following decision to open the offensive, the United States and Great Britain can assemble a joint task force of over 3,000 long-range bombers, can replace them at the rate of 600 per month, can equip them with trained crews, can drop 30,000-50,000 tons of bombs per month on any and all German targets, can maintain this performance indefinitely."

Effectiveness of aerial bombardment by the RAF and, more recently, by U. S. air forces, has already been demonstrated, with participating planes in some instances reaching above the 1,000 mark. It is not a far stretch of imagination to envision an additional thousand or two thousand planes being in readiness, within the next few months, if such a course is decided upon by military authorities.

This would require temporary concentration of United States plane production facilities on this particular task—but the accomplishment may be deemed worth the cost.

Young People's Interest In Victory

YESTERDAY'S talk by President Roosevelt to the young people of the world emphasized that "the cause of the United Nations is the cause of youth itself"—a fact that is sometimes lost sight of by those who have reached or passed middle age.

Those who founded, and those who later contributed to the building of this nation, looked far beyond the brief span of their own lives as they patterned a country dedicated to equality of opportunity and the right of self government.

"We must work, and we must fight," said the president, "to insure that our children shall have, and shall enjoy in peace, their inalienable rights to freedom of speech, freedom of religion, freedom from want and freedom from fear."

This talk to the youth of America is especially timely in the midst of discussion as to whether selective service should be extended to young men in the 18-19 age range.

Natural preference is to avoid this step—if possible—yet those in authority, experienced in the requirements for manpower in war, doubt that a sufficient army can be raised without calling younger men into military service.

Book Publishing In Sweden

SWEDEN is as neutral as is possible for a country under Germany's shadow. By her neutrality she has escaped the worst consequences of the war, but has not gone scot-free. The refinements of life have had, for the most part, to go by the board.

Book publishing is one phase that has suffered severely. So heavy indeed has been the loss which the publishers have undergone that public libraries, wishing to help them out, have made it a rule not to buy any new Swedish book until it has been out six months.

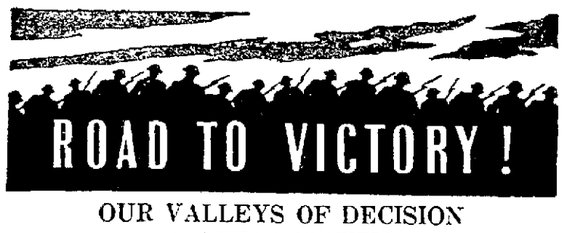
American experience does not support this action. Booksellers do not find that library purchases of new books take away their buyers. Rather, a new book in a public library, where its presence can be made known and it can be examined, stimulates interest and increases the market. The effect should be the same in Sweden.

The explanation probably is that Swedish publishers are desperate, and willing to try anything. And there is no prospect for improvement until Hitlerism is ousted.

Relics To Remain Awhile

WHETHER or not such relics as the Civil war cannons in Central park, or elsewhere, are contributed to meet the need for metal to help win the present war, is a small matter—when considered alongside the devastation that is being wrought by war in many parts of the world.

It is gratifying to know, however, that the offer has been made and that the cannons are subject to call. But if they are never needed it will be fine to have them remain where they are, in memory of heroes of the past.



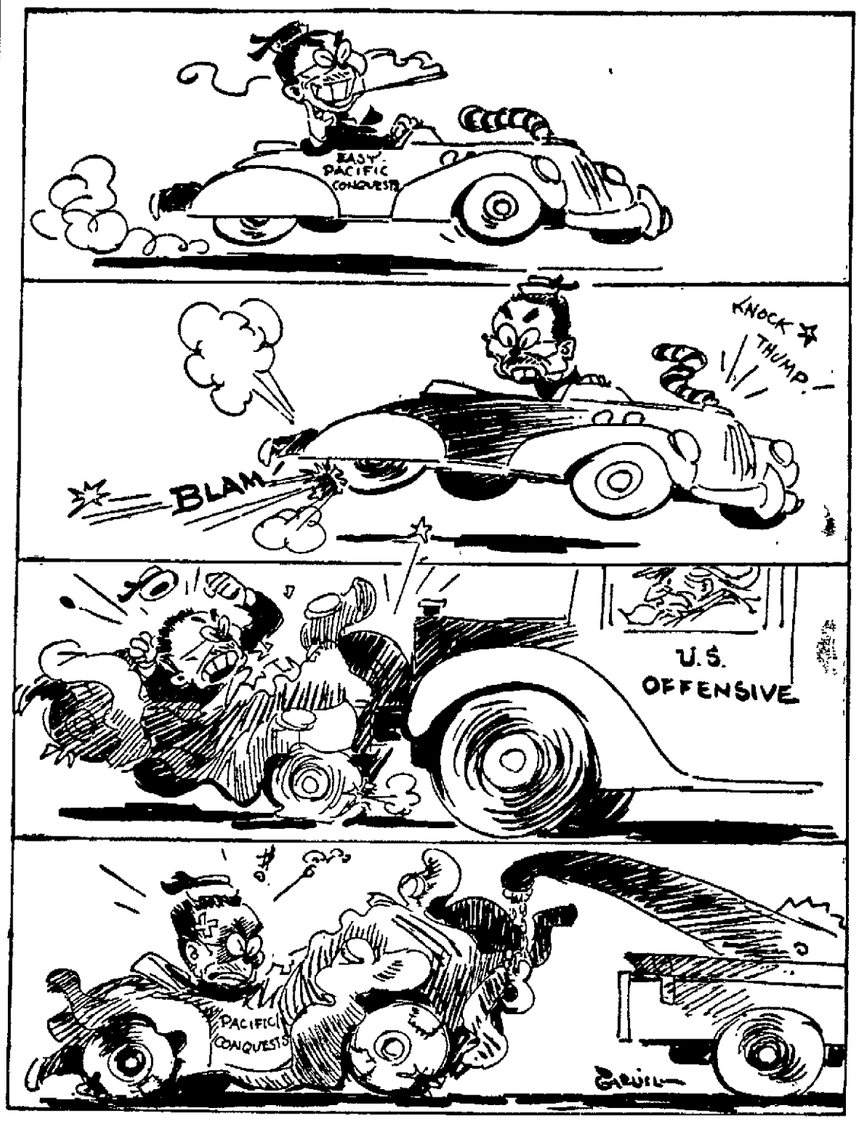
OUR VALLEYS OF DECISION

By LOUIS BROMFIELD

"This is a new kind of war, a war for which we have as yet been unable even to find a name. It marks a turning point in world history, the most enveloping and decisive turning point there has ever been, because for the first time in the world's history the entire world is involved and because the decision involves the whole future of civilization.

"The future of civilization is a vague and tremendous and oratorical phrase. Interpreted and broken down, it means the freedom of yourself and myself, whether we shall be allowed to live in a decent fashion, enjoying liberty and prosperity and human dignity, involving the future of the very house we live in, the happiness and well-being of our children, the opportunities of young people and all the comfort and security of the old. It affects how we shall worship God, and how and whether we can live in decency with our neighbors. We can help, all of us, by fighting, by working, by keeping our courage high. We can help too, enormously, by lending to ourselves the money which is necessary to win this war, by testifying to our confidence in our own country, our own battle. War Bonds and War Stamps are weapons exactly as tanks and guns are weapons. Buy now, not tomorrow or next day, but now—to save what God gave us and what we have fought for since our country became a Nation—BUY WAR BONDS."

NOT SO MUCH FIRST COST AS HONORABLE UPKEEP



Facts and Oddities About Brazil

—By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — More South American countries will be coming into the war as United Nations, against the Axis. In general, they won't be very active participants. They haven't the necessary facilities. However, they will declare hostilities.

Even though they're unlikely to do much actual fighting, with the exception of a little coastal patrol work and a bit of aviation, Uncle Sam appreciates the value of the alignment. It'll be fine now, from the standpoint of all-around morale, and it'll be a grand thing for Western hemispherical relationships after the war's over. We and our neighbors at last are on the verge of becoming really well acquainted with one another on an exceedingly friendly basis.

For immediate purposes, though Brazil's bound to be our closest affiliate.

This not only is because it's the biggest of the bunch, with sufficient military strength to be more or less physically outright helpful. It's also because of that bulge we hear so much about, which characterizes Brazil, to the eastward into the Atlantic in the direction of Africa's westward bulge toward it, from the opposite point of the compass. Naturally Brazil's bulge will be invaluable to us, as a base for operations against widely advertiсed Dakar, at the African bulge's extremity, in the event of its Axis occupation, with the connivance of Vichy, since it's a Vichy possession.

Bulge To Be Familiar.

It behooves us, then, to devote a little especial attention to Brazil, and to its bulge in particular. It's not improbable that we'll presently find ourselves as familiar with that bulge as we are with Michigan's bulge into the Great Lakes or Florida's into the Gulf of Mexico.

It shouldn't be forgotten that Brazil isn't Spanish, like all the rest of Latin America. It's Portuguese.

Between the Spanish and Portuguese I never could see any considerable difference, after several years' residence in their respective midsts.

Yet Spaniards and Portuguese say they're as distinct breeds as they both are from Anglo-Saxons, and insist that they can't understand one another.

It's bunk, of course, but you'll acquiesce if you want to be tactful.

Portuguese geography requires study also.

Every Brazilian city has at least two names. The explanation is that they were christened by different groups of early settlers. Today some swear by one of 'em; others by others.

You'll have noticed that news from the extremity of the Brazilian bulge is dated from Pernambuco— pronounced Pern-am-book-o, with accent on the third syllable.

The Same City.

Yet you'll have seen that same identical burg (everlastingly in dispatches, due to its strategic location) referred to half the time as Recife, pronounced Ray-see-fay and accented on the second syllable.

The mixture's confusing. It's characteristic of Brazil, though.

To the northward up the coast a bit (back from the point of the Brazilian bulge but an important port at the Amazon's mouth where we're sure to be mightily busy) is Para, pronounced as in "ha-ha." But Brazilians all refer to it as "Belem," pronounced as Bail-aim.

And don't say Bray-zill, as most folk do.

It begins with "Brah." The "z" is a cross between "z" and "the." Finally, carrying the emphasis, "eel" is the termination.

This Book Tells You

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

HAVE you ever wondered what makes you tick?

Of course you have. Every human being, from the dumbest peasant to the wisest philosopher, has asked that question of himself. Asked it for millions of years. And many a strange theory was advanced, but, until the last century, no real answer. For, along these lines, research has been taboo. Most of us believed that it was sacrilege to invade the sanctity of the human body, particularly to probe and pry into the brain and its workings. And so the centuries passed, in darkness and despair.

Then the old taboos went down. We began to examine and discover the causes of things. We began to see at last what caused joy and terror, horror and health, and what might possibly cure minds that had gone astray. But most of it was still behind the layman's understanding. Doctors might be brilliant in their laboratories but they were mumbo-jumbo on paper.

Then the mumbo-jumbo, too, went down, and plain folk began to be given the truth which might set them free. We've reviewed scores of such books in this column, books that lifted many a heartache, brought light into many a darkened room. Now comes a new one, as fine as any—perhaps, indeed, the sanest document that has ever been given to bewildered mortals. It's "Doctors of the Mind," by Marie Beynon Ray (Little Brown & Co., publishers).

She calls it the story of psychiatry but it's far more than that. It's the story of life and all its tragic detours. It takes us from those far-distant swamps where we started, up and into our human form, and out and into the trail that winds on to God. And it's a hundred times more exciting than any thriller Hollywood ever turned out.

Here's a scientific record that reads like a detective mystery story. Here is what you are and why you are and what modern medicine and psychiatry can do about it. Maybe you've sneered at all these "modern fads," these hormones and vitamins . . . the cancer patient who lies packed in ice for five days . . . the idiot who is given normal balance by injection of thyroid extract.

Perhaps you've sneered but you won't after you read this book, and any ninth-grade student could read and understand it. And, having read it, feel a whole new viewpoint toward life. For its colorful, dramatic pages are filled with one case history after another — real stories, taken directly from the hospitals where they happened. There is no space here to give those stories but you may judge from this example:

Claustrophobia—ever hear of it. It comes close to being a living death to the miserable mortal afflicted by it. For the person with claustrophobia becomes almost a madman in a room with locked doors and windows, can't breathe in enclosed space, suffers horribly even in the theater before the curtain goes up.

There was such a man, adult and intelligent but afflicted by devils. And then one day he remembered something out of his childhood. "His mother had taken him to visit certain caves where part of the way they had to go on hands and knees through long, narrow passages. It was close and dark and silent. Suddenly, as his eyes became accustomed to the darkness, he saw in a larger space ahead a terrifying flight of hideous creatures, hundreds upon hundreds of bats. Soon they were flapping all about him. And now he remembered that it was just after this that he would never pull down the shades in his room, lock the bathroom door, venture down a dark alley.

"'Good lord,' he cried: 'it is those bats I'm still afraid of!' He gave a big laugh. 'Well, that's that. Can't see how I'm ever going to feel afraid in a small room again' . . . and he didn't."

Bats. The foul, black bats of fear and hate, despair and delusion that affect our human minds, that give rise to morbidity and insanity—there is a reason for them. They are not the blight visited by a ruthless God upon His helpless children. They don't "just happen." They are the definite result of a definite cause and they can be cured. Marie Ray's book is a record of how such thousands of bats have been cured—those we once called hopelessly insane. If you want to know what makes you tick, or has stopped the other fellow's ticking, get that book. It will open the widest door you have ever entered in your life.

Fewer School Buses.

Old-timers, who occasionally recall with pride that there was a time when they walked a couple of miles to school will be interested in learning that the office of defense transportation in Washington is moving to revive some of the walking to school that once generally prevailed.

Through a national council of state and school officers, that formulated the plan, and state school officials who apply for the right to order new equipment and obtain allotments therefore, it is proposed to eliminate duplications in school bus service and to do away with less than capacity loads. The recommendations made include a suggestion that except for handicapped children, those who would have to go or return at unreasonable hours or undergo hardship, transportation should not be provided for pupils with less than two miles to walk.—Elyria Chronicle-Telegram.

Another Russian Winter In Store For Nazis With Stalemate Likely

—By LOUIS F. KEEMLE

AS THE WAR enters its fourth year, the German menace has become acute in southern Russia and in Egypt, and the picture on this anniversary has its dark spots.

Hitler is throwing such mass weight in his drive for Stalingrad and the Volga that there appears to be a strong possibility he will achieve his goal and establish a winter line along the Volga. This had been foreseen and in itself would not be disastrous.

There is every prospect that the Russians will be able to hold him there, and also on the northern and central fronts throughout the winter. If it turns out that way, 1942 will have ended in a costly stalemate for Hitler.

The Caucasus will have been entirely cut off from the rest of Russia, but the Allied supply line through Baku still stands. The army of the Caucasus should be able to hold through the winter, even if Hitler gets Grozny and reaches Makhach Kala on the Caspian sea.

The threat in Egypt may be of even greater importance, in the long run, than the drive for Stalingrad. The action there has not progressed far enough, nor has enough detailed information been given out, to indicate whether Marshal Erwin Rommel has sufficient strength to crash through to Alexandria, the Suez canal and the Middle East.

Rommel's strength lies in his tanks, which outnumber those of the Allies and have superior fire power and maneuverability. He is estimated to have about 600 tanks, and some sources make the figure even higher. His weakness is inferiority in the air and long communication lines.

The airplane is not a particularly good weapon against tanks, which must be knocked out by other tanks and by artillery. The air force, however, can work havoc with Rommel's communications and rear bases. American and imperial planes seem to be concentrating on that task, apparently with marked effect.

In fact, the ascent of the air power of the United Nations in Europe, Africa and the Orient is perhaps one of the most encouraging portents after three years of war. No military authority will contend that air power alone will win, but it can be made a decisive factor.

Hitler apparently has concentrated the bulk of his air power on the Russian front and definitely is inferior both in Africa and in western Europe.

The cumulative effect of destructive pounding of Hitler communication lines by the RAF, which has been in progress for months, will be great. Its importance is likely to be shown when the time comes to invade the continent.

The RAF and United States bombers have shown their ability to go over the continent at will, when the weather is not too bad. The offensive most probably will be greatly stepped up in the next two months.

September should afford many nights of good bombing weather. Also, the nights are growing longer. The massed raiders, with their heavy bomb loads, will have more hours for their operations and will be able to range farther afield and return before daylight.

Watching Trends

—By JOHN GROVER

WASHINGTON — There's an amusing story about the army finally getting around to rescinding the rule—75 years late—requiring a recruit to have strong, opposed incisor teeth.

A check of the army's musty records disclosed that the rule did have some meaning once, 'way back when the infantrymen were equipped with muzzle-loading rifles and paper powder cartridges. They needed their snappers then to bite off the tops of the paper cartridges for quick reloading, and loss of the teeth was ample reason for rejection of the rookie.

HOWEVER, all actual need for cartridge-biting incisors passed when the breech-loading rifle was adopted, but the regulation remained on the books until this year, when it was decided that a rookie didn't need any teeth, provided he had synthetic choppers able to masticate his chow properly.

What makes the cartridge-biting tooth rule's long retention even more incredible is the fact that an official army publication in 1875 pointed out that "advances in military science," such as the breech-loader, permitted service of recruits barred before that time, and specifically mentioned the outmoded need for cartridge-gnawing.

Incidentally, the army has found that a rookie needn't be Adonis to make a fine soldier. In the past they've insisted on near perfection in wind and limb, and there was huffing and puffing among the old diehards when the physical rules were relaxed for experimental training of under par rookies.

The experiment succeeded. They found that one-eyed men, men with fingers missing and other minor defects made cracking good soldiers. Oddly, it was found the physically handicapped had higher intelligence ratings than their physically sound buddies.

SO, THIS presages wholesale acceptances of men who would have been thought physically unequal to military service two years ago. When they get around to drafting married men and men with children, it's probable that the slightly spavined middle-aged crocks will go right in the ranks.

Here's a partial list of defects that won't keep you out of army uniform any more: one blind eye, if the other can be corrected to 20-40 vision with glasses; deafness in one ear, if the other's hearing is 10-20; no teeth, if no disease of jaw present and dentures permit food mastication; less than three inches spinal curvature; missing great toe, hammer toes or webbed toes; moderate deformities of the upper extremities, lower extremities, clavicle, ribs or scapula, provided the individual followed a useful vocation in civil life; goiter, hernia, nutritional defects or any other condition repairable by simple surgery or treatment.

Just a reasonable complete assortment of arms and legs in fair working order is all the army asks now. They'll find a use for you.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, Sept. 4, 1922.

Thousands jammed Casino park for Labor day program sponsored by Mansfield Trades Council.

Elmer Haideen returned from several months' trip to England and Sweden.

Mrs. Jane Bloor returned from visit in Omaha, Neb.

Trapshooting tournament was held at Walker's lake with seven squads participating.

Birth report: Daughter born Sunday to Dr. and Mrs. C. C. Wadsworth, 139 North Mulberry street.

Rev. S. K. Mahon, former Mansfield pastor, was re-assigned to pastorate of Epworth Methodist church in Toledo.

Jacob Rahm reported to police his watch had been stolen while he was at Casino park.

TODAY IN HISTORY

With the struggling colony of Jamestown the only English settlement in America, on Sept. 4, 1609, Henry Hudson, an Englishmen in the service of the Dutch East India company, sailed up the river which now bears his name, in search of a passage to Cathay. Other traders were soon to follow and the river became a scene of lively barter.

Health And Diet

Chances of Golden Wedding.

—By DR. CLENDENING

IN THIS YEAR of marriages and more marriages, presumably every young couple looks forward to the happiness of celebrating their golden wedding anniversary. So far as hygiene and medical science are concerned, the chances are better than they ever were. Medical science holds no preventive remedies for divorce, nor can all the endocrinologists on earth, shovelling estrogens into the married couples like Kentucky miners, keep love from growing cool. Even cold.

But as a strictly scientific proposition based on the lengthening of life span and the phenomenon of longevity in our time (under natural, not warlike condition), the chances of a golden wedding, according to statistics, are twice as good as they were.

It depends, naturally, on the ages of the contracting parties, but for a girl of 21 years who marries a man five years older the chances are 1 to 5 that they will survive together for a half century. According to the health conditions of 50 years ago, the chances were 1 in 10. If the bride is 25 years of age and the groom 30, the chances of a golden wedding are now 1 in 10 and 50 years ago they were 1 in 20.

Chances of Silver Wedding.

The chances of a silver wedding anniversary are astonishingly good. For a bride of 26 or younger and a groom five years her senior, the chances are 3 in 4; if the groom is the same age, the chances are 4 in 5. The chances were only 1 in 2 in 1890.

Nobody ought to fail to celebrate the tin anniversary — the 10th year. For brides up to the age of 38 and grooms of the same age, the chances are 9 in 10, and also for brides up to 34 if the groom is five years older. Even for a woman who marries as late as her 45th year the chances are 4 in 5. The bride of 45 has about the same chance of celebrating her silver wedding anniversary as the bride of 18 has of celebrating her golden anniversary.

The causes and factors which enter into this improvement are many. Few of us realize what a revolution in healthy living habits has taken place since 1890. Food is better, more plentiful, more varied, due to better transportation and refrigeration. There are no seasonal variations in our food supply.

People have learned more sensible eating habits. The infectious diseases are under control. Maternal mortality is greatly improved and we have smaller families. Childbearing put a great strain on the wife of a few generations ago.

A Farmer's Diary

New House

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE GOVERNMENT discourages the building of new homes, for the duration. Too many priorities. No materials needed for war goods should be used on any farm buildings, old or new. Get along with what you have—the soldiers need what we must get along without.

But all this does not keep one from dreaming of a new home in the future. My wife and I indulge in such dreams, frequently. We observe every house along the highway. Many are old and high, some are old and charming. Among the new ones, too many are twins or triplets. Of all the lovely homes we see, none fits our dream completely.

We have sandstone in our hills, soft and easily worked. Oak, maple, beech and chestnut timber grows in our woodlot. It would seem highly possible to gather simple basic materials together in some convenient place, for the duration.

I guess no farm home is so satisfactory as the one where all the family join in the labor of building it. There will be delight in sawing timber, in sledging stone—it is the game of building, which as boys we played by making woods huts of boards and brush and sod . . . adapted, of course, to the family needs and pocketbook, and to Uncle Sam's war job.

So we ride along and look at others' homes, and make our plans, and alter them. Our cooperation along this line is nearly perfect.

When, after the war, our new home stands firm and complete upon the stone and timber we have gathered together — when each member of our family can say, "I helped to build that house," —we'll plan a housewarming and invite you all to come.

There'll be Pennsylvania Dutch food, and lots of good spring water. And even if you do not like our house, you'll find it interesting—we hope.

CHURCH UNIT ENJOYS LUNCHEON, PROGRAM

Women's Society of Christian Service Meets Thursday at First Methodist Church; Name Conference Delegate.

LUNCHEON was served at long tables decorated with garden flowers when 55 members of the Women's Society of Christian Service met Thursday at the First Methodist church. Circle One, with Mrs. S. S. Little as chairman, was in charge of the luncheon.

Mrs. S. M. Craig conducted the business session and presented devotions with the Twenty-third Psalm as her text. Mrs. A. C. Planck, program chairman, introduced Mrs. A. C. Butterfield and Mrs. H. H. Clingan who entertained with piano duets. Their selections included "La Sorella," "Gavotte" and "Two Guitars."

An interesting talk was given by the vice president, Mrs R. W. James, on "Past Aims and Future Outlook." She reviewed the aims and goals set up for last year's work, and stressed the need of missionary work at home as well as abroad in the near future. Comments by Mrs. Planck on "The Great Need of Christianity" were based on an article in the "Methodist Woman" magazine.

The president, Mrs. O G. Place, announced that the northeast Ohio conference of the Women's Society of Christian Service will be held at Cambridge on Sept. 22 and 23. Mrs. Place was chosen to represent the local group. The district meeting will take place at Shelby on Oct. 7. Date set for the next unit meeting at the church is Oct. 1. Luncheon will be served by Circle Four; Circle Three will have charge of the program. Thursday's meeting was closed with prayer offered by Mrs. George DeYarmon.

Talks on China For Circle Two

Twenty-two members of Circle Two of the First Presbyterian church met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. Carl Russell, 578 Coleman road, and the Misses Vera and Barbara Smythe as associate hostesses.

Devotions were led by Mrs. E. F. Malone. For the program, the guest speaker, Mrs. E. R. Kochheiser, spoke on the "Royal Family of China." Other guests were Mrs. Carl Henkle and Mrs. Smythe.

For the Oct. 1 meeting, Mrs Dan Wolff will be hostess at her home on Marion avenue.

Bible Class Has Dinner at Camp

A potluck dinner was enjoyed at the Friendly House camp at 6 p. m. Tuesday by members and two guests of the Wayside Bible class. Mrs. R. E. Snyder was hostess and guests were Mrs. Edith Palmer and Mrs Russell Gimbel, camp supervisor.

Bible class conducted after the meeting was opened with group singing. Devotions were in charge of Mrs. Snyder. Mrs E. A. Conant gave the eighth chapter of Luke as the lesson study. On Sept. 15, the class will meet with Mrs. E. D. Bucher, 38 Chilton avenue.

Shower Given At Galion Home

Mrs. Donald Yochem and Mrs Harold Hartman of Galion entertained at Mrs. Yochem's home Thursday evening with a stork shower in honor of Mrs. Wilbur Flowers, also of that city. Prizes in bridge games were won by Mrs. Donald E. Kelley and Miss Virginia Boyd.

Luncheon was served buffet style from a long table centered with a lovely arrangement of flowers in pastel shades. Lighted pink tapers completed the appointments The gifts for Mrs. Flowers were contained in a sheet hanging from the bill of a tall stork. Out of town guests at the party were Mrs. John Flowers and Miss Betty Strother of Mansfield

Fish Fry Held for Members' Families

Men of the J. D. Wilcox Bible class of the First Christian church entertained their families recently with a fish fry at Orphan Knoll near Mifflin lake. Dinner was served at a long table for the 73 persons present

Committee in charge was: Alex Davis, chairman, James Trine, Edward Kindinger, Raymond McMichael, Guy Stewart and Bill Miller Next meeting will be Oct. 7.

Co-Eds Get Set For Opening of College Classes

Back to the halls of learning . . . the comfortable saddle oxfords . . the two-sizes-too-large sweaters . . . the freedom of dirndls and slacks and the new long shorts . . .

To the unlearned it may sound sloppy But actually the college co-ed 1942 is about as fastidious a piece of femininity as you'd find after long searching. She is the girl who brushes her hair a hundred times every night before she goes to bed. She is the girl who scrubs her face with soap and a little brush. She is the girl who chooses her perfume with the discernment of a dowager!

Among the fragrances voted very high by the college crowd is a wonderful woodsy scented perfume. College girls love it because of the way it blends with their tweeds and sweaters . . . clinging to them as tenaciously as a burr, mellowing graciously into their very texture. Somehow it goes with tweeds just as naturally as the buds and bees, and the birds in the trees!

Besides perfumes, the co-eds are busy stocking up on cosmetics, jewelry and countless little pieces to complete the collegiate costume so important to every girl In addition to those wonderfully comfortable sweaters, lassies go on mad hunts to find anklets to match A dash here and a dash there, because the college spirit is surely in the air!

Formal Installation Held at Leland Hotel

Beta Kappa Tau sorority held formal installation of officers in the club room at the Mansfield-Leland hotel last evening. Those installed were: Mrs. John Baki, president; Miss Ann Divelbiss, vice president; Miss Maxine Rimmer, secretary; and Miss Ruth Gable, treasurer.

Their vows were taken around a "T" shaped table lit with candles and centered with red roses, blue ageratum and astors. The retiring officers presented the new officers with a corsage made from the same flowers. The returng president was given an electrical gift and a pin with gavel for her presidency.

The committee in charge of the arrangements were: Miss Ruth Shook, chairman; Mrs. Leslie Snyder and Mrs. William Knarr. Mrs. Baki then appointed new office holders including: Miss Betty Uhlich, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Snyder, goodwill secretary; Mrs. Knarr, society editor; Mrs. John Dunn, in charge of sales tax collection.

Miss Holly Baker was named to assist Mrs George Burgess on the next edition of the sorority paper, the B-Hive. Members to serve for the September social meeting were also appointed, but the time and place were not decided. Those named are: Miss Barbara Berno, Mrs. Baki, Mrs. Richard Darling, Mrs Gerald Divelbiss and Miss Elaine Downs

Next business meeting will be Sept. 17 at 7:30 p. m. with Miss Ruth Gable, South Main street road, for a wiener roast.

Something You'll Want to Do the Next Rainy Day

Don't you like a good old rainy day? The kind we get toward the end of summer. One that secretly suggests . . . a good day for beef stew . . . baking a chocolate cake. And you think "I'll mend those pants—write Jim at camp." It's the day you've been waiting for to get at the drawers and cupboards.

There's something about rain on roofs and window panes that sets up nostalgic yearnings for sturdy fare—the kind of food that presages crisp, fall, hungry, eatin' weather. No iced juices, cold cuts and chilled fruits today. It's raining, but it's a perfect day. Perfect for good hot soup, chicken pot pie and homemade doughnuts.

We all have our pet family recipes—favorites with memories. The cake recipe that means a birthday in the house . . . peanut butter cookies that went to the boys and girls at the summer camp or boarding school . . . baked beans and brown bread that taste and smell "down east," and potted chicken more southern than Gone With the Wind.

It's a good old-fashioned rainy day. Let's have a good old-fashioned dinner. Frost a cake for that boy at camp. And as you sift and measure, cream and beat, you'll think of the letter you'll write "cold and rainy here today, but the family'll soon be home for dinner. We're having your favorite devil's food tonight and I baked a small layer just for you so you'll know we're all thinking about you."

Class Has Picnic To Honor Minister

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dillon, route 3, entertained the Fellowship class of the Evangelical Congregational Sunday school for a picnic supper Thursday evening as a welcome back to Rev. and Mrs. R. W. Taubenheim, who returned for another year.

Business was conducted by John Metzger and the roll call answered by quoting a verse of scripture The place for the Sept. 24 meeting is to be announced.

MRS. MATTI SPEAKS AT METHODIST MEETING

Christian Society of Central Methodist Church Enjoys Luncheon and Program of Singing, Talks.

APPROXIMATELY 50 members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the Central Methodist church enjoyed a luncheon and afternoon program at the church for the regular meeting. Mrs. F. E. Fisher and committee had charge of the luncheon, which was served at tables decorated with bowls of mixed flowers.

Singing of "All the Way My Savior Leads Me" began the program. Mrs. H. W. Peterson gave the devotions, the title of which she took from a song also sung by the group, entitled, "O Young and Fearless Prophet." "Democraticing the Gains of a Commonwealth," the sixth chapter in the study book, was reviewed by Miss Mary Dotson.

A quartet composed of Mrs. Rhetta Bonar, Mrs. E. C. Browler, Mrs. L. A. Ogborn and Mrs. J. C. Stout sang "Sweet Story of Old." Mrs. Carl Spangler talked on the "Backwash of World Empire on Democracy" and told of the conditions in Germany when she lived there from 1922 to 1924.

An article from the "Methodist Women" entitled, "The Service Man's Need for Religious Literature," was given by Mrs. D. E. Patterson. Mrs. E. C Jenkins was in charge of the afternoon program, which was followed by a business meeting.

Mrs. Charles Matti, who recently returned from China on the liner, Gripsholm, told about her experiences during the war. Afterwards the minutes and reports were read and the meeting closed.

It was announced that there would be regular church services Sunday, as Rev. Foulke has returned from his vacation. Next meeting for the society will be Oct. 1.

Park Auxiliary To Bring Guests

Members of the Liberty park auxiliary held their monthly meeting Wednesday night at the park pavilion with 13 persons in attendance. Guests were Miss Mary Frederick and Miss Bess Soufle. When the business discussion was over, cards were the diversion of the evening.

Awarded the prizes were Mrs. Christ Geisel, Mrs. Pauline Conrad, Mrs. Frank David and Mrs. Grace Pocock. The hostesses for next month will be Mrs. Agnes Metz, chairman; Mrs. Barbara Miller, Mrs. Grace Pocock and Mrs. Katherine Rickert. Members are urged to attend the next meeting and to bring a friend.

FINDLEY-ANDERSON.

Mrs. Eva Miller led the devotional period for the Findley-Anderson class of the United Presbyterian church for their recent meeting. President, Mrs. George Riel, conducted the business session after which games were played. Hostess, Mrs. Frank Williams, was assisted by Mrs Clarence Williams and Mrs. Miller.

Sorority Dinner Held at Scotty's

Last evening Sigma Kappa Gamma sorority had a dinner party at Scotty's on Ashland road. There was a lovely floral centerpiece with favors in black and red. The committee in charge of the affair were the Misses Kathryn Landfair, Janet Wilson and Dorothy Kelly.

Their sorority paper, "The Tattler" was distributed to the members. Editors were the Misses Landfair and Naomi Velzy. Next regular business meeting will be Sept. 17 with Mrs. Richard James, 39 West Park boulevard.

Pledges Told of Coming Duties

Miss Marjorie Hale, Euclid avenue, was hostess Wednesday evening to the Zeta chapter of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority. During the business meeting, the Misses Frances Brown and Lilhan Art, pledges, were informed of their duties for rough initiation of Sept. 8.

The remainder of the evening was spent in playing bridge with prizes being won by the Misses Patty Oberlander and Marjorie Schwein. At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served. Initiation will be held Sept. 8 in the sorority club rooms.

Reminiscence Club Has Dinner Guests

September meeting of the Reminiscence club was held Thursday at the home of Mrs. Henry Hayward, 202 Gerke avenue. After the covered-dish dinner, the club prize was awarded to Mrs. Ruth Heston.

Twenty-one members and two guests, the Misses Dorothy Kochert and Felicia Burkett, were in attendance There will be an evening meeting on Oct. 7 at the home of Mrs Charles Kime, 292 Marion avenue.

Personality May Easily Be Acquired

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Someone has defined personality as an indefinable something which certain people have and others lack, but it is not indefinable: personality is a quality which interests other people. You've seen this quality flash a hundred times—a girl not pretty, not even smartly dressed crosses the floor at some dance and the entire stag-line is on the alert and wants to meet her. Like flint to steel she strikes off a spark called "interest." Hers is probably a case of inherent personality. She's a genuine live wire that sends out vibrations.

But something that passes for personality can be acquired and it's a quality as much to be reckoned with as the born-in-the flesh article. How our forbears, not more than a couple of generations ago would have scoffed at the idea of "personality classes," and charm schools. Then, if an individual succeeded in climbing to the top of the ladder by some inherent quality, it was attributed to brains, shrewdness, initiative, or, as it is often called, "gumption."

The development of personality is taken as a matter of course today; actually, it's included in some of the business schools. For the gift, natural or acquired, depends on learning how to do an increasing number of things with and for an increasing number of people.

So many of us, unfortunately, are like cocoons, wrapped up in our own inhibitions. We're afraid to offer the friendly word, do the neighborly act for fear of incurring obligations. The lonely people who write to me are the mental shut-ins.

Not long ago a woman of 50 wrote me she had worked 20 years in the same office, instructed the junior clerks, but really didn't know anyone. She dreaded the remaining years of her life, as a sort of solitary confinement. She wanted to know, poor woman, whether she should join a "personality school" or some sort of charm class.

I told her she had all the qualities for running her own personality school, if she'd just unlock a little of her mental rigidity and emerge. She had plenty of money and no dependents. So I advised a party for all of the people who worked with her, and after the party to try and take an interest in their lives.

Vicarious happiness is not to be despised. A real glow is kindled in one's own heart when that greatest of happiness—a baby—is born to a friend. Weddings are happy occasions, even for the friends who come to wish happiness. Other people's joys, sorrows, good fortune, bad fortune are happening right before us, not 'way off in Mars or some remote planet. To know and love people pays the best of all dividends.

Pitfalls of Love

(A sequel to Marriage Meddlers)
By ADELE GARRISON

Mary crossed the room in a loping run and caught me in a crushing bear hug.

"The world's No. One Philanthropist!" she intoned, with a mercurial rise of her spirits at my offer to see Noel for her.

"If anybody in the world can do anything with him, you can. Take my blessing with you, and I'm going to keep my fingers crossed while you're gone."

I went out feeling the contagion of her high spirits lift mine from the disconsolate conviction that my interview with Noel might prove fruitless.

Madge Explains.

His greeting increased my doubt of success.

"You left Mary over there?" he said, accusingly.

"Yes, but for only a minute," I told him. "She is all right, and I wanted to see you for a minute, to let you know that this latest triumph of Mary's ends the necessity for any further espionage on her part upon her leading man, who, I think, will be her leading man only a little longer."

"Thank Heaven for that!" he ejaculated fervently. Then his face darkened again.

"If my father doesn't kick him out soon, I'll save him the trouble," he said. "Every time I see, or worse, imagine that swine with Mary in his arms, even only in the play, I go absolutely berserk. I was going to tell her tonight that she couldn't go on again with him, but if you say he won't be there much longer—"

His voice trailed off and I spoke with decision.

"I am sure I can promise you that," I said. "Mr. Redfield is nearing the end of his rope. And I not only understand your feeling concerning him; I share it. I shall be as glad as you when he goes out of our lives forever.

"But—" I added after a pause, and Noel started as if the roweling he had been given were to begin all over again.

Noel's Nerves Shaken.

"I knew there was a 'but' in this," he said brusquely. "It was too good to be true."

"Don't be idiotic, Noel!" I said sharply. "I have told you the exact truth. Mary never will have to go out alone with Steve again, and her spying is ended. But since my father is not ready to cease his own watchfulness over Redfield, it is vitally important that Steve does not suspect anything yet for a short time."

"So what?"

"He wishes Mary—with Olina, never alone—to go with Steve for dinner once or twice more," I said. "That is all."

I put out my hands and grasped his shoulders, looking steadily into his eyes.

Pleads for Consent.

"Dear boy!" I said tenderly. "I know how hard this is for you, but I wish for Marion's sake—and something bigger; the thing on which my father is working—that you would consent to this last thing my father is asking of you. Won't you be patient just a little longer?"

He waited several seconds before answering, then said slowly:

"You say she won't have to watch Redfield any more, and that the only thing your father wants is to have her go to dinner with him and Olina?"

"That is all," I replied.

After another pause he asked explosively:

"What does Mary want to do about this?"

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

SHOW WHAT YOU FAVOR

You would never know, from the way some people bid, that they prefer major suits to minors for trumps. Their calling seems to indicate frequently that a certain major is risky for trumps even when it is perfectly safe and sound. A good little rule to remember, and to practice most of the time, is this: As soon as you are sure your side has eight cards of a particular major suit, don't take any chance of its getting into a minor, unless in most exceptional circumstances.

	♠ A 9 4 ♥ A 10 4 ♦ 4 ♣ K 10 7 6 4 3
♠ Q 10 ♥ Q 9 7 ♦ A Q 8 4 3 ♣ Q 8 5	N W E S	♠ K J 7 6 5 3 2 ♥ J 8 ♦ J 9 6 2 ♣ None
	♠ 8 ♥ K 6 5 3 2 ♦ K 10 7 ♣ A J 9 2

(Dealer: North. Both sides vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1. 1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
5 ♣
2. 1 ♣	1 ♠	2 ♥	3 ♦
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♣	Pass

Did you ever see two more aggravative cases of players straining to get into a minor instead of a major? At Table 1, both partners offended. When South got his second chance to bid, after North's 3-Clubs, his best call would have been 3-Hearts, to show he had at least five and could stand three-card support. North could not interpret this as showing a weak hand, since South had made a free bid of 2-Hearts, higher ranking suit than clubs, over East's bid, and hence was prepared to stand a rebid of three from North.

After the 4-Clubs, North had a chance to save the day for the major by bidding 4 Hearts. South could not misunderstand this as showing four cards, as in that case he would have supported hearts as soon as he heard them instead of rebidding clubs.

At the second table, North made a very fine bid, in close quarters, when he called 3-Hearts, since a club rebid would have to be at the level of four. When South then bid 4-Clubs, it made North believe he had only four hearts and was warning North that, unless he also had four he had better go on with clubs. North properly took the message that way, so it was South's fault they did not play at hearts.

Nobody could very well fail to make 4-Hearts. If East ruffed a club lead, put West in with a diamond and ruffed a second club, South would surely finesse against the heart Q and discard his last loser or losers in diamonds on dummy's last two clubs. Making five clubs, however, was hard. One declarer did it by setting up hearts for spade discards, whereas one went down trying to ruff out two spades, when West overruffed.

Tomorrow's Problem.

	♠ A Q 6 4 2 ♥ 10 4 ♦ 10 4 ♣ A K 5 4
♠ K J 10 8 5 ♥ Q J 2 ♦ A J 7 ♣ 8 7	N W E S	♠ 9 7 3 ♥ 9 8 5 3 ♦ K Q 5 ♣ Q 3 2
	♠ None ♥ A K 7 6 ♦ 9 8 6 3 2 ♣ J 10 9 6

Why should South prefer clubs to No Trumps on this hand, after North shows he has both five and four cards in two biddable suits?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, September 5

WHILE THERE may be some thwarting, crystallized or postponing influence definitely to overcome by decisive action, direct attack and clever maneuvering, there are signs of a most progressive and productive day, on which big business may forge to high levels of accomplishment and gratification. Large interests are involved, and important personages and desired capital may be at hand.

If It Is Your Birthday

Those whose birthday it is should have the vision, foresight and clever grasp of stagnant and obstructed situations to wrest progress and outstanding success from difficulty and depression. High aims and major objectives should thrive under clever and shrewd tactics, with the help of those of financial ability.

A child born on this day should be excellently endowed with mentality, acute insight, sound and logical efforts to wrest important success and progress from obstructions. It should be popular and respected.

UNFAIR ADVANTAGE +

By Carol Brown

(Copyright, 1942.)

CHAPTER XVI

Amy stared—nonplussed by this second demand made upon her within half an hour. What Marcia had asked was impossible.

"You wouldn't have to stay forever," Frani said. "If you'll just come for awhile now. I'm going to try to win Daphne away from you. She's my child even though I haven't acted as though she was. After I've won her you can go. But will you come now? Not for me. For Daphne?"

Any thought of Daphne as she'd seen her the night before—so small and white in her bed. She couldn't let Daphne down.

"Yes," she promised.

Daphne was uppermost in her mind when she said it. Not until afterward—driving back to the Dillingham home with Frani—did she realize that by complying with Frani's request she had avoided having to answer Marcia's question. Nor would she have to refuse Marcia's invitation. Of course she would have refused. She couldn't do anything else. If only Marcia were not so utterly generous and dear!

Daphne, lying among gay red and blue and yellow pillows, with an array of dolls of every nation at the foot of her bed, shrieked with delight when Amy came in.

Then she said importantly, "Tudor, I've got a broken hip and I have to stay in bed for weeks and weeks. And this is my Dr. Ames and I love him!"

"And that," said the blond young man standing beside the bed, "is the biggest recommendation a man could ask for."

He was a large young man, over six feet, husky and wholesome. His eyes twinkled as he looked down at Amy. "We've been waiting for you impatiently all morning. It seems that noon can tell stories as well as 'Tudor,' and that you're a knockout as a tiddly-winks player."

"I see that Daphne has told all," Amy laughed. It was good to be laughing again. This young man gave you a all's-right-with-the-world feeling.

"And I'm glad you're here," he said. "There had to be one sane person in this household."

Amy was startled. Evidently Dr. Ames was accustomed to being frank and made no pretense of catering to rich patients.

Frani came in then and Daphne called impatiently, "You can go now, Mother. Tudor's here."

Frani stiffened. "I suppose I can stay long enough to hear what Dr. Ames has to say this morning."

"Right here," he said. "There's nothing to conceal."

"You mean she won't be—"

"Deformed? Good lord, no! That youngster's hard as steel and resilient as rubber."

"What's deformed?" Daphne said. "What won't I be?"

"It means your leg grown crooked," Dr. Ames told her. You'll grow up tall and straight and beautiful like your mother."

Frani blushed. "Why — why, thank you!"

"Don't thank me," he said brusquely. "Thank your creator who gave you a fine body and a beautiful face—swell heritage to pass on to a daughter."

"I never thought of that," Frani meditated. Then she said bluntly, "but I do thank you. I've always thought my husband had it all over me in this matter of inheritance. Guy has family. Three of his ancestors were colonial governors and his grandfather was a university president and a senator and—"

"Phooey," declared Dr. Ames. "My grandfather was a blacksmith. And now—you two gals clear out! Miss Bolton and I have some things to do and you're in the way."

As they entered the nursery Frani was shyly radiant. "He's given me something," she declared. "Something I've always needed."

When Dr. Ames came the next morning Frani had on a turquoise blue velvet negligee that matched the blue of her eyes. Daphne said, "look, my mother's all dressed up for me."

Frani blushed again.

The next day Amy was looking out the window as Dr. Ames' car came into the drive. She saw Frani riding beside it on a black horse. Her riding habit showed the lovely curves of her figure. She was leaning toward the car window, a lock of raven hair blown across her face as she smiled.

But Frani did not neglect Daphne. She played games with her and she helped her cut out paper dolls. But she had no patience. They would be half through a game when suddenly there would be a spurt of angry language; blue eyes would glare at blue eyes; black eyebrows would knit into identical frowns.

Amy seldom saw Paul. There seemed to be no point to it. That was what she told him when he met her as she returned to the house after a brisk walk in the cold, wintry sunshine.

"Don't go in now, Amy," he begged. "Stay out with me for awhile."

"I don't want to," she said. Then, seeing how hurt he looked, "I do want to—so terribly that I won't. It hurts with things as they are now. When we've settled everything, when Marcia knows."

"This is crazy," he interrupted vehemently. "You'd think Marcia was 'our poor little Nell' and that I was honor bound to protect her!"

"It is crazy," she admitted. "But it seems to be happening. Did you know what Marcia did for me?"

* * *

She told him how Marcia had invited her to stay with her until she found a place to go. But Paul was not much impressed. He frowned and said, "That's easy enough for a person who has so much money she doesn't know what to do with it. Would Marcia be just as generous if she didn't have a cent?"

"I think she would."

"So you want me to stay away from you and hang around Marcia and make love to her." Amy's eyes darkened with distress. "Oh, I'm sorry, darling. But we're making a silly mistake. There ought to be something we could do about all this."

As Amy entered the house she thought, "If he were Guy he would know what to do." But she dismissed the thought as disloyal.

During the next few weeks Paul confined himself closely to his studio, coming to the house each day for a short visit with Daphne, who was so lively now that it was almost impossible to keep her quiet.

A puppet show was designed for Daphne's entertainment. Amy brought home books from the library and poured over puppet lore. Guy had a stage made under Amy's direction. Marcia made curtains from a red velvet evening dress. Paul painted sets beside Daphne's bed where she could watch—and where Amy had to pretend she wasn't watching.

Amy got papier mache and wires and paints, and she and Daphne fashioned the puppets. They made a little princess and seven swans and seven princes all decked in portions of Frani's and Amy's old evening dresses. For Amy wanted to present the fairy tale.

TAX AGAINST CIRCULATION OF PAPERS HIT

Association Files Brief With Supreme Court, Citing First Amendment.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—The American newspaper publishers' association asserted today in a brief filed with the supreme court that "any tax or other exaction which falls directly upon the act of circulation is an unconstitutional restraint upon the liberty of the press."

Elisha Hanson, attorney for the association, presented the brief in support of a petition for reconsideration by the tribunal of a 5 to 4 decision last June 8 holding constitutional city ordinances imposing license taxes upon the sale of printed matter.

Reconsideration has been sought by counsel for a group of members of "Jehovah's Witnesses" accused of violating ordinances in three towns. The American civil liberties union also joined in the request for reconsideration. The supreme court will announce its action next month.

"Freedom of the press," the newspaper publishers' association said, "is the right of the people to have information of vital public importance free from censorship, restraint or control of those in authority.

"So when publishers are constantly on guard to challenge any impairment of a free press they are not seeking special privileges for themselves or for any class of persons, rather they are discharging their solemn responsibility as trustees of the right of all the people to open channels of inquiry and discussion on matters of public importance."

The brief said that the association thought the majority opinion by the supreme court "established a dangerous precedent for licensing the press by legislative devices which resurrect the evils the first amendment (freedom of the press) was intended forever to remove."

"The very fact of licensing to engage or continue in the business of publishing or circulating newspapers," the brief continued, "destroys the independence of the press.

"When regulation enters the door, independence flies out the window. From that moment technically every activity of the press may be regulated.* * *

"If there is power to impose license taxes as a price for carrying on the operations of the press then there is nothing to prevent the legislature from declaring that the business of publishing newspapers is a business to be licensed.

"And if it can so declare, it can also license the preacher of the gospel and can limit those who can preach, to the destruction of freedom of religion as guaranteed by the first amendment."

THEATERS

Emotional Drama.

"The Gay Sisters," a highly charged drama with Barbara Stanwyck, Nancy Coleman, Geraldine Fitzgerald and George Brent, opens Saturday at the Ohio. The story takes place in New York and revolves around an incontestable will that has placed three beautiful but mysterious sisters up to their necks in debt although theoretically they are worth a fortune. Suspicion and mystery surround the house where the Gay Sisters live as well as George Brent, in the role of a lawyer who for 23 years has tried to break the will.

Romantic Drama.

Based on the sentiment that behind every great man is a woman the current Ritz attraction, "The Great Man's Lady," shows how an impetuous Philadelphia girl in 1848 helped her young husband in his efforts to win fortune in the west. Her influence remains long after she has been relegated to the backstreets of his life and has become the motivating force of a gambler and adventurer. Joel McCrea plays the husband and Brian Donlevy the gambler. Thurston Hall and Etta McDaniel are in the cast.

Paranurse Thriller.

The arduous training that prefaces preformance of duty for the anticipated women's parachute nursing corps is shown in the thrilling air feature, "Parachute Nurse," at the Ritz. Dealing with the life of a group of nurses who enlist for the paranurse duty the picture presents the many phases of training that the nurses must undergo before they are ready for actual duty. Romance threads the plot and the cast is headed by Kay Harris, Marguerite Chapman and William Wright. "Texas Trouble Shooters," with The Range Busters is the second attraction.

Enemy Plot.

Humphrey Bogart gets mixed up with Jap saboteurs in "Across the Pacific," opening Saturday at the Madison. He portrays a dishonorably discharged army captain who ships for Yokohama and while on board comes in contact with persons he believes to be Japanese agents. The time is pre-Pearl Harbor and the captain 'sells out" his information of military installations in an effort to put the agents on the spot. Mary Astor, Sydney Greenstreet and Roland Drew are in the cast. "Calling Dr. Gillespie," the second picture, has Lionel Barrymore and Donna Reed in the cast.

Nelson Gets Backing of Both AFL, CIO

BROADWAY

—By Dorothy Kilgallen

(Columnists Are Simply Shamful, Aren't They?)

MY CONSCIENCE tells me it is time someone called a halt to the encouraging of the countless phony legends by which Broadway has acquired an undeserved — if colorful—reputation.

So often do the Main Stem historians repeat the same fictions about denizens of the Great Dim Way that pretty soon they'll be believing they're writing the real facts. (Perhaps THEN they'll stop!) And I am sure they have the reading public convinced, hook, line-o-type and sinker, that various myths about the celebrated are so much gospel.

Kilgallen

But I can tell you otherwise.

For example, it is not true that Dick Watts ALWAYS wears a blue shirt; that Lucius Beebe ALWAYS wears pearl-studded weskits, and that William Rhinelander Stewart has NEVER been seen at night in anything but a faultlessly sculptured dinner jacket.

Milton Berle's mother, contrary to rumors of which I must confess even I have been guilty, does not roar with laughter at every one of her son's jokes.

Only recently, during the second show on the fourth day of Milton's Loew's State engagement, Mrs. Berle merely giggled. And a reliable informant swears that on the last day of the engagement Mom was heard once just tittering.

The typewriter tappers would have you swallow the legend that Oscar Levant sits in Lindy's every night uttering bright quips which invariably find their way into the pages of Readers Digest. Well, if the truth is to be told, Oscar does not sit in Lindy's every night uttering bright quips which invariably find their way into the pages of Readers Digest.

Sometimes he goes to Toots Shor's.

It is a tribute to the managerial acumen of Sherman Billingsley that his Stork club has continued for so many years to be New York's most popular after-dark rendezvous—despite persistent but unfounded rumors in the public prints that only celebrities are admitted and that John Q. Public is barred at the entrance. As a matter of statistical fact, a Mr. Helmuth K. Wilmerdon of Keokuk, Iowa, a postoffice clerk, gained entrance to the Stork club on the evening of July 25, 1937

He was carrying a hose and said he was a fireman.

If you were to believe the daily prints, you'd think Lucy Monroe never sang anything but the "Star Spangled Banner" in her whole life. But, if the columnists would only take the trouble to check their statements, they would discover that on April 15, 1934, in a shower bath at the Sherry-Netherland hotel, Miss Monroe sang three entire choruses of "Singin' in the Rain."

The glamorous myths go on and on about Hope Hampton and Jules Brulator attending every Broadway show on opening night, sitting in front row, center seats. Never once are you told the awful truth —that Miss Hampton and Mr. Brulatour saw "The Garrick Gaieties" on the second night, from a box!

And I daresay there isn't a columnist alive who hasn't at one time or another done his or her bit to foster the myth that George Jean Nathan dislikes every show he sees and, what's more, says so in complex sentences of gargantuan size However, students of the Broadway scene who are more interested in accuracy can dispel the legend quite simply by citing Mr. Nathan's original criticism of "The Ladder." "It stinks!" was his neither complex nor gargantuan comment.

Tallulah Bankhead has earned her own reputation as a magnificent actress. But it was the fable-hungry columnists who earned for her (and quite unjustifiably) her reputation for being able to hurl epithets with the speed and skill of Bob Feller throwing a baseball. The journalists would have you believe—and no doubt they already do have you believing—that the Great Tallu constantly peppers her speech with short, earthy expressions, chiefly from the Anglo-Saxon.

But I am here to tell you that when La Bankhead suffered the acme of exasperation—two simultaneous runs in her stockings at Sardi's — the exclamation of disgust and dismay which she let out brought out a single blush from those who heard her, including Wolfcott Gibbs, Broadway Rose, Louie the Hack and three sailors.

So you see?

LAWYER BEATS GEORGE WHITE FOR CANDIDACY

Selected By 15th District Democrats After Tense Seven-Hour Meeting.

(By Associated Press)

M'CONNELSVILLE — Charles W. Lynch, 38-year-old Woodsfield lawyer, today triumphed over former Gov George White of Marietta and Thurman Hazard, Cambridge bank cashier and political newcomer, in a tight contest for the Democratic congressional nomination in Ohio's 15th district.

After seven tense hours, the party's 12-member district committee about 2 a. m. agreed — unanimously, they said — on the 32nd ballot on Lynch as a candidate.

Committeemen reported that former Gov. White, who once represented the district in congress, was eliminated on the 28th ballot. Although White was not present, supporters said he was in Marietta, "ready to come here if nominated."

Thus Lynch succeeds to the nomination declined by former Rep. Robert T. Secrest, who was unopposed in the August primary. Secrest, before the primary, resigned from congress to become a lieutenant commander of the navy.

Lynch, chairman of the Monroe county Democratic executive committee, will oppose P W. Griffiths of Marietta, Republican nominee, in the November election.

"I pledge myself to the best interests of the party," said Lynch, "and, if elected, will function to the best of my ability in the office Bob Secrest so ably filled."

A native of Woodsfield, Lynch was Monroe county prosecutor for two terms, 1933-37. He was a school teacher before studying law at Ohio university and Ohio State university. From 1938 to 1940 he was a member of the state Democratic executive committee.

Thirteenth district Republicans also must select a congressional nominee because Rep. A. D. Baumhart, jr., of Vermilion, is to enter preliminary training Sept. 18 at Dartmouth college for a commission as naval lieutenant. The district's congressional committee plans to meet possibly next week.

Mentioned as likely candidates for the nomination are State Senator Fred L. Adams of Bowling Green, John Berry of Norwalk, Baumhart's secretary; Sandusky county prosecutor A. L. Hyzer, Alvin Weigel of Sandusky, former Erie county prosecutor; Floyd A. Collier, Wood county prosecutor; former state representative Fonald C. Canfield of Wood county and Walter M. Witherspoon, Fortoria lawyer.

The Democratic nominee is Dr. A. C. Alexander of Castalia.

Up and Down THE STREET

There was nothing prosy about the flannel bed jackets made by Bellville Red Cross volunteers and delivered to the Production Center here yesterday for shipment to the west coast. Remembering that they were making the pink and blue jackets for young girls hospitalized in disaster areas the women took hundreds of extra stitches in order to trim them with embroidery, feather and other fancy stitching. The jackets, at least 50 of them, made under the supervision of Mrs. J. B. Kochheiser, will be sent to St. Louis, central shipping point for the west coast and Pacific war zones.

A stained glass window in the post chapel at Randolph Field, Texas, was dedicated during ceremonies last Sunday to the memory of Mrs. Gertrude Jenner Lahm, wife of Brig. Gen. Lahm, for whom the Frank Lahm Cadets in Mansfield were named. He retired from active duty and is living in San Antonio, Texas, near Randolph Field, the huge army aviation training center. Before his recent retirement he was commanding general of the Gulf Coast army air forces training center.

The young players in the Children's theater organization had their first glimpse of summer stock under canvas Wednesday night when they visited the Kinsey company. They first attended the performance and later went behind the scenes to meet the cast and see the backstage set-up. The trip to the Kinsey tent followed a brief meeting when the cast for a coming playlet was assigned.

To insure that legislation placed in the council hopper will abide the recently re-affirmed deadline provisions, City Clerk Robert Black today obtained a dating and timing stamp which will show the day and hour each proposal has been received. Each issue also will show the name of its sponsor. Last Monday evening council, after months of indecision, voted unanimously to sustain the motion of Roy W. Vaughn, member-at-large, asking that a 1936 resolution be enforced requiring that all matters to come before council be filed with the clerk not later than 4 p. m. on the day preceding any meeting.

WPB CHAIRMAN RETAINS FULL RULE ON BOARD

Promises Labor to Get Major Administrative Posts During Talks.

WASHINGTON—(INS)— Donald M. Nelson today emerged from the climax of labor's fight for a greater voice in the WPB with full control of the board but now apparently backed by both the CIO and the AFL.

Informed labor sources indicated, however, that the CIO, which lost its plea for a labor co-chairman of the board, will attempt to move deeper into WPB administration on the strength of Nelson's three-point proposal for labor participation.

Outside criticism from the CIO, which culminated in a CIO executive board resolution demanding responsible administrative positions on the WPB, will end, labor officials said.

CIO President Phil Murray and AFL President William Green both expressed satisfaction with the proposal made by Nelson.

In addition to indicating that one or two Labor vice-chairmen of WPB industry branches will be appointed, Nelson's program proposes:

1. The appointment of labor men to important administrative posts after the AFL and CIO submit a list of qualified men;

2. Creation of a five-man committee to direct the 1,300 WPB-sponsored labor-management committees in industrial plants;

3. A greater guiding voice and contact for labor in the WPB industry branches considering concentration or curtailment of industry.

Having gained these concessions, which Nelson termed "very important," labor's attitude is that, although no actual power has been delegated as yet to labor, the unions are now in a position to prove their worth by constructive action.

17 CASES ARE BEFORE JURORS

Jury Convenes Tuesday, Actions to Be Investigated Listed By Prosecutor.

Seventeen cases will be submitted to the county grand jury when it convenes Tuesday for the final session in the summer court term.

Among the cases the jurors will be asked to investigate will be one against Russell Ellsworth, 22, of 255½ North Mulberry street, accused of attempted criminal assault on a 70-year-old Mansfield woman at her home six weeks ago.

Other cases Acting Prosecutor John C. O'Donnell will present to the jury are against James F. Sergent, accused of non-support; William J. Williams, charged with carrying concealed weapons; Charles E. Barney, breaking and entering, Walter Fannin, forgery; Benjamin R. Redden, issuing check with insufficient funds.

Stanley Turner, breaking and entering; Bryson Nicholson, grand larceny; Paul Dill, forgery; James Richens, forgery; Robert R. Darling issuing check without funds; Robert Burdge, forgery; Wayne Royce Hamlin, breaking and entering; Morgan Stewart, non-support; Russell Burke, breaking and entering; Helen Zeppito, cutting with intent to wound; Ralph O Reynolds, issuing a check without funds.

BARS EMPLOYING HOSTESSES TO BE PROSECUTED, HAWLEY SAYS

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS—Ohio liquor establishments employing the services of "hostesses" to boost their sales today faced prosecution at the hands of the State Department of Liquor Control, it was disclosed Harry E. Hawley, chairman of the liquor control board, announced that the board passed a resolution to prevent tavern keepers from employing such "solicitors" for they themselves to solicit drinks from customers. The regulation had been under consideration for several weeks, the chairman said.

"Instances had come to the attention of the board," Hawley reported, where "hostesses" were served tea, under the guise of liquor, so that they would not become intoxicated, but which the patron bought in the belief that he was buying a round of drinks for the "hostess" and himself.

The regulation, known as No. 64, reads:

"The holder of a permit issued by the department of liquor control shall not himself nor shall any of his agents or employes solicit or in any manner approach a patron for the purchase of drinks of beer or intoxicating liquor for himself or such agent or employe or any other person.

"The holder of a permit issued by the department of liquor control shall not permit any person not in his employ to solicit or in any manner approach a patron for the purchase of drinks of beer or intoxicating liquor either for himself or for any other person."

MEET ON LOANS

AAA Officials To Address District Session Here.

Agricultural adjustment administration officials who handle federal crop insurance in seven north-central Ohio counties will meet in Mansfield Labor day to discuss provisions of the new loan program and its administration during the next year.

A representative of the state AAA office in Columbus and J. O. Sherrick of Dunkirk, district crop insurance field man, will speak at the meeting which will be at Richland county AAA headquarters on North Diamond street.

Applications for insurance on the 1943 wheat crop are already being received at the county AAA office, officials said today. Insurance is available to all county farmers, giving them protection up to 75 per cent of their normal yield of wheat.

The insurance affords protection against loss from fire, drought, hail, and insect pests. The farmer turns over a specified number of bushels of wheat to the government as premium.

WILL CONTRIBUTE TIME

STEUBENVILLE —(AP)— After cancelling their traditional Labor Day parade, local labor union members decided to contribute two hours of work on that day to salvage materials from a burned-out section of the Wells High school building.

DEATH FOLLOWS LONG ILLNESS

Miss Augusta Herschler, 82, Dies at Sister's Home.

ASHLAND — Miss Augusta Herschler, 82, died today at the home of her sister, Mrs. Clara Lawrence, Ashland, after a long illness.

Miss Herschler was born in Ashland county, June 20, 1860, and was a member of the First Presbyterian church here.

Survivors are Mrs. Lawrence and a brother, Albert Herschler, of Canton. Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Heyl funeral home with Rev. H. E. Andrews of the First Presbyterian church officiating. Burial will be in Strickland cemetery.

Ohio-Made Seagull Scout Planes Now See Active Duty

NEW YORK — (U.P) — Curtiss Seagull scout-observation planes, said by designers to be the fastest battleship and cruiser-based planes operated by the United States fleet, now are in active service. G. W. Vaughan, president of Curtiss-Wright corporation, announced today.

The planes, produced on the assembly lines of the Curtiss-Wright plant at Columbus, O., are two-seater, mid-wing monoplanes, which are equipped with either wheel-type landing gear for land-based operations or float-type landing gear for catapult operations.

Curtiss-Wright engineers said the Seagull has an unusually wide range of speed. A long cruising range and is equipped to carry light bombs.

These factors, it was said, qualify the Seagull to serve as the "eyes of the fleet" and make it an effective weapon for detecting enemy submarines.

First of the new planes, Vaughan announced, have been assigned to the new cruiser, U. S. S. Cleveland.

HOLLYWOOD

—By Robbin Coons

HOLLYWOOD—Pretty Nancy Coleman is becoming our town's most consistent victim of Nazi vengeance.

Just like an old-time serial queen who knew that each new movie meant a sequence of plotted terrors, Nancy can be fairly sure that any old Nazi lying around loose in a movie is going to choke, beat, or chase her before the final reel.

Coons

Nancy is the Everett, Wash., girl who began a Broadway career as Gertrude Lawrence's daughter in "Susan and God," got star rating in "Miss Liberty Jones" and thence was taken unto Hollywood.

Except that she suffered nicely in "King's Row," there was nothing to foreshadow a career of taking Nazi beatings. It just happened that in three of her last four starts she has been patsy to the Natsy.

In "Dangerously We Live" her evil assailant was Raymond Massey. In "Desperate Journey"—a knockdown adventure with Errol Flynn—she was tossed around so generously she doesn't remember the chief slapper and choker. And here she is again, in "Edge of Darkness," playing the role of the Polish actress who is a prisoner of the Nazis in Norway.

"This time it's Helmut Dantine," she says. "The German flier 'Mrs. Miniver' captured, remember? He's frightening—but he's really very nice. Off-stage, I mean."

Here is where Jaik Rosenstein, the unsinkable, suggests hopefully that Miss Coleman must surely have nightmares about Nazis. Jaik has figured in these dispatches before as a persistent, eternally hopeful publicist.

("I don't even dream—ever," says Miss Coleman, which temporarily sinks the unsinkable. Temporarily. We are shortly in a brief discussion of the eternal truth that Nazi-harried actresses can have nervous breakdowns without the preliminaries of nightmares or even dreams.)

SEEKS $4,053

Administrator Says Amount Due From Jones Estate.

Attorney L H. Beam as administrator of the estate of the late Lillian J. Rankin, Mansfield nurse, today asked $4,053 from the estate of the late T. Amos Jones, former owner of the Eleanor Thomas sanatorium, for services performed by Miss Rankin.

Defendant in the action which was filed in common pleas court is Mrs. Barbara Nichols, daughter of the late Mr. Jones and administratrix of his estate.

Attorney Beam contends that Miss Rankin was employed by Mr. Jones for a period of 153 weeks as a nurse, serving a part of the time at a rest home on Park avenue west and then at the Eleanor Thomas sanatorium which later was acquired by the county as a tuberculosis sanatorium.

When a claim for pay allegedly due Miss Rankin's estate was submitted to Mrs. Nichols last December, it was neither accepted nor rejected, the petition says. The original claim was for $3,825, but the interest since December has boosted the amount to $4,053.

ASKS DIVORCE, CLAIMS CRUELTY

Hospital's Public Relations Manager Sues At Ashland.

Asking a divorce on grounds of extreme cruelty, L. O. Fonkalsrud, public relations manager of General hospital, filed suit in Ashland county common pleas court yesterday against Mac E. Fonkalsrud.

Fonkalsrud entered his petition as a resident of Ashland county. Notice of the suit was sent to Mrs. Fonkalsrud, now living in Decorah, Ia., court attaches said.

He states in his petition, which was offered along with a separation agreement that must be approved by the court before it becomes effective, that he was "nagged until it was unbearable." He asserted that he and Mrs. Fonkalsrud have been maintaining separate homes since June 1, 1942. The separation agreement offered to the court stipulates that Mrs. Fonkalsrud would be given custody of two children and would receive $75 a month from Fonkalsrud.

AMERICANS ARE WELCOME NOW IN GREENLAND

War Opens Cryolite Mines and Hospitality of Island to United States.

By JOHN R. HENRY

GODTHAAD, Greenland —(INS)—Americans are welcome guests in Greenland today because of the war.

This is the impression gathered in a visit to the so-called sixth continent and in conversation with James K. Penfield who is blazing a new diplomatic path for the United States in this barren land of Eskimos and icebergs.

Greenland, heretofore; has been an extremely closed corporation for Denmark. The Danes held a monopoly upon cryolite mines as well as the hunting and fishing industry of the Greenlanders. Greenland ports were shut to general traffic from the outside world.

One change has occurred, however, since Germany set out to dominate the world.

"We," meaning Americans, "are very well accepted here now, generally speaking," according to diplomat Penfield.

First American consul to Godthaab, Penfield explained:

"The reaction of the Danes here is that the Nazis took control of Denmark, and as soon as they get kicked out, the Danes again can control their own country."

Meanwhile, until the Axis has been humbled, it appears that Greenland has become a virtually independent land and has joined the band of the United States.

Greenland's cryolite, used chiefly in production of aluminum, is being shipped to the United States. Greenlanders get American food.

A crown colony of Denmark, Greenland's government was controlled from Copenhagen before the Nazis invaded Denmark. Upon this turn of events, the Danes set Greenland much upon its own, permitting the local government of Godthaab to rule with almost complete authority.

Penfield, then, is the first American diplomatic representative to hold a post there in the town of "Good Hope."

A career diplomat, the trim, youthful Penfield won his spurs during seven years of service in China. He is a native of San Francisco and a graduate of Stanford university.

Penfield has been in Godthaab since May, 1940. Since then he has studied the Greenlanders closely, and has concluded like Admiral Peary, the first American to put foot on the vast greenland ice cap, that the citizenry are "kindly, cheerful and hospitable."

Penfield pointed out that "our military and the civilians here do not interfere with each other in any way." He said Greenlanders "all are very pleasant and cooperative."

USE X-RAY FOR AVIATOR CHECK

SAN DIEGO, Cal. — (U.P.) — The finest and most complete X-ray equipment to be found in any aircraft plant in the country today has been installed and is in operation at the hospital at the huge Consolidated Home plant, Chief Surgeon A. C. Dick, announced.

"The equipment will be used to X-ray all injuries and to analyze the extent of suspected chest diseases," Dr. Kick said.

The equipment also will be used to check some 200 pilots and crewmen in the flight and service department, who must be thoroughly examined for the high altitude flight research program.

Joe Wells Leads Senior Tournament At Halfway Mark

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Elyria high school gridders, second on the schedule for this year's Mansfield Tygers, spent last week in evening calisthenics, but got down to business this week with two-a-day practice drills to last until school starts.

There's been little word out of Elyria as to the strength of this year's club, but a slightly encouraging note has been sounded in the report that the Elyrians expect to avenge last year's defeat at the hands of Oberlin in the opener.

Also there's been no dope thus far on Akron West, Mansfield's first opponent. But Akron writers have been picking Garfield and East as the best in the Rubber City.

It begins to look like Mansfield went out of its way to schedule tough newcomers for this fall's campaign.

You've already heard about the huskies returning for a veteran Portsmouth team. Niles also has its huskies, and the squad of 40 candidates now working out under Coach Earl Hoker includes nine lettermen, and nine others who had more or less experience a year ago.

Tiny Metcalf, giant of the Tyger line will have something to lean his weight against in the Niles game. Doug Evans and Joe Taranta, Niles stalwarts who weighed 233 and 235 at the close of spring practice, are reported to have added a few pounds during the summer.

And what gives it at Canton McKinley, the school that surprisingly held Mansfield to a scoreless tie last fall and spoiled the Tygers' chances of a claim on the state title?

Rearick had his starting lineup tentatively selected before this week's first practice all, a very comfortable situation for this time of year.

And the Bulldogs will be big and tough this year, says the word from Stark county. Almost any combination which Rearick will start averages between 175 and 180 pounds.

Success of the offense is said to depend on the great Jack Crider, leading scorer in the state through most of last season, and Earl Loucks, jr., being groomed for fullback. They'll handle all the passing and kicking and most of the ball carrying, according to Canton custom.

* * *

Toledo Woodward, last opponent on the Tyger sked, has a squad of 32 players working out under new Coach Elmer Vonderburg, succeeding Jack Taylor who is now in armed service in the Pacific.

Mighty Casey' Fights for Life

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The toughest pitcher of 'em all has two strikes on Mighty Casey today.

Casey, the humbled hero of Mudville, is fighting for life in a hospital here. He is 80 years old and the power which made him a terror to opposing pitchers is gone.

He is Daniel M. Casey, the original "Casey at the Bat." Down through the years has come the legend of the Ruthian figure who came to bat in the ninth inning with two men out and the bases full—and struck out.

Casey lives at Four Corners, Md. Several days ago he was brought to the hospital seriously ill. His condition was unchanged today.

It was back in 1887, in Philadelphia, in a game between the Phillies and the New York Giants, that Casey came to bat in that dramatic ninth inning and, with the count three and two, swung and missed.

"How I swung! And how I missed!" Casey has said in recounting the incident.

JOCKEY KILLED

COLLINSVILLE, Ill.—(U.P.)—Ted Ring, 28, veteran jockey, was killed in a race at the Fairmount track yesterday when his horse stumbled and threw him into the path of another horse.

Former Ohio Amateur Champion Shoots 76

Two Clevelanders Stay In Race For Title at Westbrook Club.

FORMER Ohio amateur champion Joe Wells of East Liverpool led the field into the stretch drive for the 1942 Ohio Seniors Golf association title today with a rain-splattered card of 76 to show for his first day's tour of Westbrook Country club's tortuous paths and tricky greens.

But the East Liverpool star, who held the state amateur crown five time in his younger days, had no safe and sure lead at the halfway mark in the seniors' joust.

Right behind him with a 77 was W. B. Foden of Cleveland, while up there in the running with a 78 was Frank Pelton, 1940 champion of old-timers' association. And Wells had no difficulty recalling the three putts he took within five feet on No. 17 green of the final round of the 1941 tournament which lost him the title by one stroke to Frank Fults of Cleveland.

Fults, reported broken up by the suicide death of Cleveland amateur golfer Al Atkinson, decided at the last minute yesterday not to defend his title.

Wells this spring won the Ohio seniors' tournament at Scioto Country club in Columbus in a tourney open to all golfers over 50 years of age, turning in a 72-79—151, with the second round played in a driving rain.

For most of the golfers in the Ohio Seniors association, the annual tournament at Westbrook is more of a social event than a test of links skill, but the good golf yesterday was not confined to the youngsters' group of 50 to 54, although "young" Joe Wells held the lead.

Both Foden and Pelton are in the next age group from 55 to 59. Tied for first place in the 60 to 64 group were two doctors, N. M. West of Cleveland, and H. D. Smith of Cadiz, while F. A. Sanford of Lorain led the 65 to 69 groups with a sparkling 83, which, with his handicap of 14, gave him the best net in the tournament, a 69.

R. M. Noll of Marietta also had a net 69 for a while, but voluntarily changed his handicap, based on last year's scores, from a 20 to 14, taking a 75.

* * *

C. H. Foster of Cleveland, who took the championship of the 65 to 69 group last year, graduated into the 70 to 74 class where he led at the halfway mark with an 88, while George M. Gray of Coshocton, defending his championship in the class over 75 had a 99 for first place in his division.

The oldsters proved a hardy bunch of "boys," playing most of the day in weather that ranged from a sprinkle to a driving rain, with never a complaint.

They had their reward last night in the social highlight of the tournament, the annual dinner at Westbrook's new clubhouse, a dinner spiced with jokes and songs and witty stories which more than made up for the fact that the speaker of the evening failed to show up

And the seniors needed no speaker to tell them that they enjoyed the fine squab dinner placed before them.

Officers elected for the coming year were George Ritter of Toledo, president; Frank Pelton of Cleveland, vice-president, and E. D. Baxter of Mansfield, secretary-treasurer.

Re-elected chairman of the tourpnament committee was L. W. Olson of Mansfield. Serving with him on the committee are Dan Moxon of Cleveland, E. S. Weller of Mansfield and E. M. Ayers of Zanesville.

Named on the board of governors were Olson, B. B. Williams of Mt. Vernon, Dr. W. D. Inglis of Columbus and Ray Cross of Columbus.

Buck Newsom Blanks Reds

Old Bobo Finds Soft Going In National.

By JUDSON BAILEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

WHEN the Brooklyn Dodgers bought big Buck Newsom from the Washington Senators last Monday for a price now understood to have been $25,000, plus a minor league pitcher, they said they would be satisfied if the veteran won three games for them in the stretch drive for the National league pennant.

* * *

On that basis the showboat's debut for the Dodgers yesterday at Cincinnati was worth $8,333.33 and Newsom, with his rare ability for a grand gesture, provided a performance to meet the value.

He shut out the Cincinnati Reds 2-0 on four scattered hits and struck out eight in a tight hurling duel with Johnny Vander Meer, who himself fanned eight and allowed only four safeties before being removed for a pinchhitter in the last of the eighth inning.

However, Vandy had one wild streak and it cost him an unearned run and eventually defeat. In the third inning he walked the first two men up, Augie Galan and Arky Vaughan. Newsom grounded into an unusual double play, erasing Galan and himself and putting Vaughan on second. Eric Tipton dropped Peewee Reese's liner to centerfield and Vaughan scored.

Joe Beggs, who went to the mound in the ninth, walked the first man and Joe Medwick singled. Ray Starr hurried to the mound and fanned Dolph Camilli. Then Mickey Owen hit a long foul to Rightfielder Max Marshall, Frenchy Bordagaray scoring after the catch.

The victory, closing Brooklyn's last western swing of the season, kept the Dodgers 4½ games ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals, who crushed the New York Giants 7-0 behind the four-hit hurling of Lefty Howard Pollet.

Philadelphia's night game at Pittsburgh was postponed.

In the American league the speeding Boston Red Sox gained half a game on the idle New York Yankees by smothering the Detroit Tigers 2-0 on four-hit hurling by Bill Butland, who now has won six in a row. It was the Red Sockers' fifth straight triumph and 23rd in 27 games.

Washington's Senators turned the tables on the Chicago White Sox and swept a doubleheader 3-2 and 14-0, getting the stupendous sum of 20 hits off Thornton Lee and Ed Weiland in the second game.

MANSFIELD WINS OVER CRESTLINE

Mansfield Y. M. C. A. softball team scored its second straight victory over Crestline "Y" yesterday, 17-5, at North Lake park. Landon and Reynolds held the visitors to six hits.

Seniors Brave Weather In Annual Golf Tourney

Braving the weather at Westbrook Country club yesterday, the Ohio Seniors Golf association opened their annual tournament with more than 100 members competing. In the above layout picture No. 1 shows Harry Drake of Columbus protecting himself from the weather. No. 2 is a foursome just leaving the ninth green. Left to right, F. A. Sanford of Lorain, W. J. Spreng of Mansfield, T. R. Sammons, Mansfield, and R. T. Lewis, Marion. No. 3, left to right, are E. D. Baxter, Mansfield, secretary-treasurer of the association, and J. R. Moxon of Cleveland, member of the tournament committee. No. 4 shows W. B. Foden, Cleveland, left, and G. B. Carman, Cleveland, telling each other about the putts they missed. And No. 5 is L. W. Olson, Mansfield, chairman of the tournament committee, checking handicaps on the scoreboard.

Kimbrough and Scott Injured

Army All-Stars Lose Their Big Punch.

DENVER—(AP)—It's no military secret but it is definitely bad news for the western army football all-stars—"Jarring John" Kimbrough may not be able to start in Sunday's game with the Chicago Cardinals.

Whether he is able to play at all depends on how well a severe rib injury mends. Wiping him out of the lineup is like taking Whit Wyatt away from the Brooklyn Dodgers or Sammy Baugh from the Washington Redskins, who beat the Army eleven at Los Angeles last Sunday.

Big John, twice all-America fullback from Texas A. & M. and Haskell, Texas, was top kick for the Army boys in that game, speeding 58 yards for their solo touchdown.

Major Wallace Wade, the team's laconic coach from Duke, disclosed today that the injured rib was the price the 210-pound giant with the incamdescent smile paid for his stellar work.

* * *

"Kimbrough hasn't been able to practice with the squad here," Wade said, "and we probably won't know until tonight or tomorrow how much we can use him Sunday."

* * *

Five other players also are on the doubtful list because of the banging up they took from Washington—Jim Thomason, blocking back from Texas A. & M.; Don Scott, fullback from Ohio State; Waddie Young, former All-America end from Oklahoma; Leonard Dickey, tackle from Texas A. & M., and Tony Cemore, guard from Creighton.

ZANESVILLE HELPS CHARLESTON CAUSE

ZANESVILLE —(AP)— Last-place Zanesville shortened Dayton's chances of winning the Mid-Atlantic league pennant last night, edging the Ducks 3-2 in a 13-inning game.

Dayton dropped a half-game in the standings, giving idle first-place Charleston a four-game lead. The season ends next Monday. Canton defeated Springfield 7 to 1.

Parker, Segura Clash In Tourney

FOREST HILLS, N. Y. —(INS)— The National Men's Tennis tournament had Ted Schroeder going against Alejo Russell and Lieut. Gardner Mulloy meeting George Richards this afternoon, but the outstanding event in the West Side club stands at Forest Hills concerned Frankie Parker and Pancho Segura, the Ecuadorian firebrand, who clash in the semi-finals tomorrow.

Parker, a ten-year veteran among racquet masseurs, hadn't played as well in four seasons as he did while crushing Seymour Greenberg, the Chicago holder of the national clay court crown, 6-0, 6-0, 6-4.

* * *

Segura, who beat Billy Talbert of Cincinnati, 6-4, 3-6, 6-2, 6-4, showed he has added a new quality of conservative restraint to his two-handed forehand and fiery fighting. It is a quality that makes him most dangerous just when the nationals reach their critical stage.

Saints Rate Big Hand

Beat Brews In Extra Innings After Bad News.

(By Associated Press)

If any team in the American Association deserves a round of applause today it's St. Paul.

The last-place Saints didn't give up last night in the face of an announcement that the club will let its franchise revert to the American Association and dispose of all its players. Instead, they whipped front-running Milwaukee 6 to 3, in a 13-inning contest.

The defeat sent the Brewers pancaking a full game off the American Association lead, and this, plus Columbus' defeat by Indianapolis, left the idle Kansas City Blues on top by half a game. The Blues' game with Indianapolis was postponed.

The Saints dropped the Brewers in the 13th frame last night when Jimmy Grant doubled with bases loaded. Verdie Himsl went all the way for St. Paul, giving up 17 blows, but only one for extra bases.

A three-run rally in the first inning resulting from three singlas and a double from pitcher Red Munger, gave Indianapolis a 4 to 2 win over Columbus. The Tribe functioned behind John Hutching's seven spaced hits as the newcomer from the majors registered his fourth victory without a loss.

Louisville trounced Toledo for the third straight time, 9 to 6, and just about knocked the club from the American Association playoffs. The Colonels boosted their fourth place margin to a game and a half and have only five more to go.

B-Leaguers Keep Same Officers

News-Journal B league golfers had nearly a 100 per cent attendance for their annual banquet last night at Possum Run golf club.

The war caused one important departure from custom, as the shortage of golf balls cut to one-third their use as prizes for the season's play. Instead of balls, each golfer was given a golf medal.

* * *

Officers were re-elected. They are Alex "Pop" Davis, president; Alden Heath, secretary, and Russell McCullough, treasurer.

STOCK MARKET LEADERS STILL MOVING CAGILY

Irregularity Continues as Observers Note Price Index Steadies.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stock market leaders continued to shift over a slightly irregular route in today's proceedings.

Up a shade were Continental Can, American Tobacco "B," Socony Vacuum, American Telephone, Goodrich and Standard Oil (NJ), fractionally lower were Loew's, Great Northern, Sears Roebuck, Western Union and International Nickel.

In the midst of widespread inflation arguments boardrooms noted that, during the last week of August, the bureau of labor statistics' index of prices of nearly 900 series in primary markets remained unchanged for the third consecutive week at its 16-year record level, or 98.9 per cent of the 1926 average.

Holders of merchandising shares, at the same time, derived some encouragement from the Dun & Bradstreet survey disclosing that this week's retail spending throughout the nation exceeded that of the like 1941 week for the first time since last spring. The year-to-year increase was placed at from 2 to 5 per cent. It was recalled, though, that the labor holiday fell in the corresponding week a year ago.

J. W. DERR, 81, DIES AT HOME

Retired New Washington Merchant Taken By Death.

NEW WASHINGTON—John William Derr, 81, died yesterday at his home after three years' illness. He was a retired New Washington merchant.

Mr. Derr was born in New Washington on May 16, 1861 and lived in this vicinity the greater part of his life. He was a member of the Lutheran church.

Survivors are his widow, the former Mary Emma Martin; a brother, Fred A. Kimerline of New Washington and four sisters, the Misses Jannie and Clare Kimerline of New Washington and Miss Ida Mae Kimerline and Mrs. Maude Shea of Toledo.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2:30 p. m. at St. John's Lutheran church with Rev. Paul B. Gerlach officiating. Burial will be in St. John's cemetery.

KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

DAYTON—(INS)—Lieut. Joseph H. Jarvis, on detached duty from Goyer Field, Idaho, was killed as the motor of his pursuit ship failed and the plane crashed at Patterson Field, officials reported.

FOLKS, have you ever seen a hen lay an egg with a green yolk? Ours are doing it every day! Drop in and we'll break one open for you.

We're putting a special substance in the feed for these hens—and this makes the yolks green. We do this to show you that, whatever goes into a mash—whether it's a protein, mineral or vitamin—has a tremendous influence on the eggs you get.

That's why we think you'll find Purina laying chows so outstanding for your own hens. Purina feeds don't make green yolks, of course, but they are built right to make all the eggs your hens are bred to lay.

RESOLUTION NO. 42-204.

By MR. KYLE:

Declaring it necessary to improve East First Street between Bushnell Street and Pennsylvania siding at Ideal Electric and Manufacturing Company, by widening and constructing a curb and gutter along south side only of said street.

Be It Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield State of Ohio three-fourths of all members elected thereto concurring.

Section 1. That it is necessary to improve East First Street between Bushnell street and Pennsylvania siding at Ideal Electric and Manufacturing Company by widening and constructing a curb and gutter along south side only of said street.

Section 2. That the plans, specifications estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the engineer and now on file in the office of Director of Public Service be and the same are hereby approved.

Section 3 That the total estimated cost of said improvement shall be one thousand eight hundred and fifty dollars ($1,850.00) which includes the serving of notices, interest, advertising, engineering, appraised bid, etc., as well as the construction itself; and that of said estimated cost the sum of seventeen hundred dollars ($1,700 00) shall be assessed by the foot front upon the lots and lands bounding and abutting the proposed improvement, which lots and lands are hereby determined to be specially benefitted by said improvement.

Section 4. That the assessments to be levied may be paid by the owners of any property assessed at his option in cash within 30 days after the passing of the assessing ordinance, otherwise said assessments may be levied payable in five or less annual installments issued with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as shall be borne by bonds to be issued therefore.

Section 5 That the owners of lots and lands bounding and abutting upon said improvements shall execute to the City of Mansfield a waiver of any deductions which he might claim under Section 3822, General Code.

Section 6. That the bonds of the City of Mansfield, Ohio, may be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

Section 7. This resolution shall be in effect from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed: Sept. 1, 1942.
Signed: HOWARD G. MILLER, President of Council.
Approved: W. J. LOCKE, Mayor.
Attest: R. R. BLACK, Clerk of Council.

Oldest Golfers Elect These Officers

regulation which became effective after estimates for the improvement had been made.

Another item up for consideration tonight will be the repeal of an ordinance passed in December, 1937, requiring speed governors on taxicaps and limiting maximum speed to 45 miles an hour. "Too many operators and drivers assume that ordinance permits such vehicles to drive at that maximum speed on Mansfield streets" George C. Kyle, member-at-large and sponsor of the legislation, explained.

"Taxicab drivers must observe zone speed limits the same as any other motor vehicle operator," Frend D. Boals, traffic commissioner, declared. Boals expects to introduce a codified traffic ordinance at the October meeting of council which ignores the speed-governor system.

Another ordinance will propose transfer of $1,000 from the general fund for police motor equipment maintenance; another will ask $75 for police department furniture and a third for $250 for police expenditures in the nature of new motor equipment.

Extension of police and fire signal systems in the vicinity of Park avenue east, Franklin avenue and Diamond street is provided for a $500 fund transfer.

Several sidewalk construction resolutions also are in the council hopper.

WOULD BUY GAS SYSTEM

CANTON—(AP)—A proposal that the city of Canton purchase the East Ohio Gas company's distribution system here and obtain its gas supply wholesale from the Standard Oil company of New Jersey is being considered by a city council committee.
